SAVED FROM LAKE ONTARIO WRECK WITH A LIFE LINE

In one of the worst storms in the history of Lake Ontario the Canadian Steamship Lines' freighter Alexandria, from Montreal to Fort William with package freight for Western Canada, was driven ashore on the famous Scargoro Bluffs, at Toronto's front door. For several hours, while the vessel was breaking to pieces in the storm, the sailors' lives were despaired of. Finally, through the bravery of farmers on shore, a life line was got to the steamer and in the darkness all were taken off. Above are eleven of the survivors, photographed a few hours after the accident.

REMARKABLE HAT ARRIVED LAST NIGHT

A battered old hat arrived on the train last night on a round the world tour. The hat started from the Panama Exposition and has reached Prince Rupert via New York. It will go to Alaska on the next boat north, and will then cross the Pacific.

It is on view at W. J. McCutcheon's drug store and it attracts a great deal of attention. At each stopping place it is supposed to be tagged, in order to trace its wanderings. It already carries many interesting items and, when it returns to the original sender, should be greatly enhanced in value, sentimentally, if not intrinsically.
