DEVELOPMENT

Professor Adam Shortt, in his address on "Present Day Economic Conditions," handled his subject in a most clear, concise fashion. He handled cold, hard facts in a way which was interesting to his audience. Economics is simply chystallized common sense applied to financial and physical conditions.

Dr. Shortt did not hesitate to point out the weakness of much of the rush development of western Canada, especially as regards railroad construction. Of course the speaker was dealing solely with the financial aspect of railroad construction, in order to show that the huge amount of capital tied up in three transcontinental railways would take a long time to show a return on the capital invested.

It must be remembered, however, that, in the case of the Grand Trunk Pacific particularly, the opening up of a vast area of hitherto unknown territory compensates to a great extent for the lack of immediate return in the shape of earnings. Many thousands of settlers have been placed on the land, especially in the prairie provinces, as a direct result of this railroad construction, and these settlers are all producers, whose earning capacity is only reflected in railroad returns to a small extent. Every virgin acre brought under the plow is so much added to the contra account against the building of the railroad.

Dr. Shortt held out great encouragement to Canada in its prospects of prosperity after the war. Being a young country, he emphasized the fact that it had not yet become a large producer of luxuries, and that its future is bound up in producing meals and living accommodation. This is particularly interesting to the Pacific coast in view of the rapid development of its fishing industry.

try. As the interior of the northern part of this province is more thickly populated, a large number of cattle will be raised, while crops will be harvested every year to a greater extent. The lumber business would now be booming if transportation to Europe could be procured. The mills in the south have orders on hand for two years ahead, at substantial prices. When the war is over the European demand for lumber is bound to increase for several years, and British Columbia will ultimately return to a condition of solid business prosperity.

SUBMARINE WARFARE

Von Bethmann Hollweg's statement regarding the sinking of the Arabic is evidently intended an unofficial reply to America's note. We will probably learn that the submarine had no instructions to sink the Arabic, and that it was a mistake, and that compensation will duly be paid to any Americans who suffered loss. In plain English, Germany will continue to beg the question, and will continue her submarine warfare just as before. If any American citizen is careless enough to sail on a British ship of any description, he is liable to meet death or serious injury, but, if America raises a holler about it, an enquiry will be made, compensation paid, and the submarine commander duly rewarded. Mistakes will continue to happen.

EXPERIENCE SHOWN BY THE CITY OF REGINA

Regina, Aug. 26.—Among other municipal enterprises entered into by the city of Regina is that of grain raising. The city's artesian wells, from which the water supply is secured, are located at various points on a 400-acre farm. Up to the present year this ground has only been used for the purpose of securing an adequate water supply, but as large quantities of oats are required to feed the horses employed on street cleaning, etc., it was decided to sow oats on all available ground on the city farm. It is now expected that the average yield per acre will be 50 bushels, or a total yield of 20,000 bushels. If this expectation is realized the saving will be a big one.

Don't Send Money in a Letter

WHEN you send subscriptions to magazines, or order goods out of town, or pay small accounts at a distance, do not place the actual cash in the envelope. Thousands of dollars are lost every year through fire, robbery or mis-direction. Use the Bank Money Orders, issued by this bank. They are payable in Canada and the United States in any sum up to fifty dollars.

Their protection is well worth their small cost.

BELLA COOLA NOTES

Mr. H. G. Anderson of this place, while away at the capital, took the great step in life to better his condition by entering into marriage with Miss Potts, formerly teacher at the Mackenzie school. They have taken up their residence here and the Courier joins their host of friends in wishing them a long and happy union.

A number of our residents after a successful and busy season availed themselves of a less busy time to go down the inlet for an outing. One party went to the head of South Bentinck Arm a week ago today and intend to be away about a week. They were: Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Jacobsen, Mrs. W. F. Roland, Mrs. Capt. Thorsen, Misses Ellen Thorsen and Annie Liverton.

Another and larger party made the Hot Springs on the same inlet their destination. They left Tuesday morning, but will be back in time for the picnic tomorrow. The party is composed of Olaf Urset, T. Jacobsen, Theo. Liverton, I. Olsen, Olaf Fosbak, Clara Widsten and Mattie Peterson.

As the disposal of the butter produced by the farmers is looming up as a problem that must be solved soon we are glad to announce that arrangements are being made to have a dairy expert visit the settlement at the time of the fair.—Bella Coola Courier.
