The drama is one of those Pathe masterpieces which have become so popular with Majestic patrons. The staging and photography are superb.

There will also be a Pathe Gazette, showing the latest pictures from the various war centres. "His Friend the Captain," a most laughable comedy, provides the lighter side of a very fine program.

Macdonald, who presided, outlined the history of the Congress and the work it has done, and then called upon Vice-president Maclean to take the chair.

The delegates dealt with the resolutions which they thought would be of most interest to local labor men. Amongst them were resolutions along the following lines:—A Dominion Workmen's Compensation Act, covering all railroads, including government owned and operated roads; an act making it compulsory for all hotel and restaurant proprietors to grant employees one day per week as a rest day; that the union rate of wages be included as a fair wage in all government contracts; that railway companies be forced to pay employees weekly; that all medical fees, under workmen's compensation acts, be paid by the employer, or be taken from an insurance fund; that provincial education acts should be enforced, and that a census of illiterates be taken in each province; that a National Insurance Act be brought in for Canada, similar to the Lloyd George Act in Great Britain; that a system of agricultural credits be established, applicable to all homesteaders or residents on farm lands; that the sanitary conditions obtaining in construction camps be investigated by the Dominion government.

"THE GOVERNOR'S LADY" AT WESTHOLME THEATRE

Tonight and tomorrow, the Westholme presents a great five-act Lasky production entitled "The Governor's Lady." At the outset, the story is a domestic idyl, picturing sweet and simple American home life. Unexpectedly wealth comes along and with it political and social ambitions on the part of the husband, who is ultimately nominated for governor. Dissatisfied with his wife's lack of interest in his ambitions, he makes up his mind to seek a divorce with the intention of marrying a younger and more ambitious woman. In the long run the simple honesty of the wife who has helped him to win success, loyally and unobtrusively triumphs, and the story has a happy ending.

As in all Lasky features, the setting and photography are flawless, while Edith Wynne Mathison as the governor's wife, scores a big success. "Others started but Sophia Finished," a bright little comedy, concludes a splendid program.
