PEACE TALK
 Hilaire Belloc, the well-known war correspondent and military writer whose forecasts of the cause of the war have so far proved wonderfully correct, states that the Austro-German offensive may entirely break down within two months and that it is impossible that it can continue for more than three months. Mr. Belloc is not in the habit of guessing, but figures out results with mathematical exactitude.

The report that the German ex-chancellor is preparing peace plans for the consideration of President Wilson and King Alfonso of Spain lends color to the belief that the Prussians have had enough of it. However, this is simply more reason why the Allies should pursue the conflict with renewed energy. This war is being waged by the Allies with a view to promoting a permanent peace and such a peace is not possible so long as there is the slightest danger of the Prussian coming back at a later date with fresh battalions. The Allies have no idea of contemplating a peace settlement which would simply resolve itself into a lengthy truce, to be broken when the Kaiser's army has recuperated.

The Allies are seeking to root out from the heart of the German Empire a militarist growth which has been feeding upon the German people for forty years, with an ever increasing appetite. When this has been accomplished, which shall be as beneficial to Germany's truest welfare as it will be to the rest of Europe, there will be real talk of peace, but until the evil power of Prussian militarism has been uprooted and scattered to the winds, the war must be continued with greater concentration and increased power by Britain and her allies.

UNFOUNDED RUMORS
 There is no truth in the rumor that the reason why "The Spoilers" was censored was that the censor thought that it featured British Columbia political life, showing William Manson tied hand and foot along with thirty-seven others, while the bosses had a high old time.

There is a persistent rumor circulating to the effect that the attorney-general knows now that he blundered in stopping the election last April, but Sir Dick can't get him to admit it.

There is a report that Sir Richard McBride's election speeches will begin with "Let us forget the past, and think only of British Columbia's glorious future."

It is stated that the only trouble between Sir Richard and W. J. Bowser now is that they cannot agree as to which is to be leader of the opposition.

It is reported that William Manson is threatening to answer the open letter handed him by the Bella Coola Courier, asking for particulars regarding road superintendent's expenses and a few other little items.

WOLVES IN WAR

History tells that on Napoleon's fatal retreat from Moscow the wearied troops were constantly harassed by hungry wolf packs. Now it is said that wolves have gathered from their fastnesses in the forests of Poland and South Russia to gorge upon the battlefields of the eastern front.

Some time ago an officer gave a graphic description of the long lines of wolves stealing from the coverts at nightfall, passing within a few feet of him as he lay wounded. He said that the sight of their gaunt forms, dimly limned against the dark sky, as they busied themselves with their ghastly feast, would never be effaced from his mind.—Ex.
