HORSE BUYING

When the war broke out Mr. James Robinson Fallis, member for the county of Peel in the Legislative Assembly, made an early visit to the Militia department at Ottawa, and obtained from it a letter of recommendation to the government inspectors of horses in the county of Peel. Armed with this document, he formed a partnership with a Mr. Jones, and the firm was so successful in its operations that Mr. Fallis was able to swear to Sir Chas. Davidson that every one of the three hundred and sixty-two horses purchased in Peel county for the first contingent was bought from him or his firm. On his own admission, his profits were less than three; thousand dollars, while his partner swore they were about three thousand, five hundred.

Mr. Fallis was blatently frank in his description of the way in which he secured such profits, and he was outspokenly defiant to the commission when in reply to a mildly implied censure from Sir Charles Davidson, he said he "had a perfect right" to do as he did, and and it was legitimate business." by Irishmen in future. His method of procedure was price to the government. "The they cross the frontier. government wanted the horses objected Sir Charles. "Once
