CABINET CHANGES
 The long discussed, carefully planned cabinet shuffle has at last been made public, or, as it is officially put, it "crystallized today with dramatic suddenness." Evidently Sir Richard must have gasped when he realized that he was no longer premier. Sir Richard's new position will suit him, in that it means his residing in his beloved London, but it will be rather galling for an ex-premier to take instructions from a salaried penman at Victoria.

Dr. Young, who is the other scapegoat, has had to shoulder much more than his share of the blame for some things which have happened in this boss-ridden province. The late provincial secretary simply did his duty to his party to the best of his ability, and according to the rules of the game as recognized by that party. The move is described by the local Tory organ as "the rehabilitating of the fortunes of the Conservative party." It is interesting to have the Journal admit that the fortunes of the party required fixing. In attributing the cause of the party's ill-health to the war, it may be assumed that the Tories figure that the war brought about the Dominion Trust scandal; the Songhees reserve deal; the coal deal; the Kitsilano deal, with its $80,000 to Bowser's friend Read; the production of the public accounts in such shape as to defy analysis, and a hundred and one other instances of Bowserism, all of which took place long before the war was ever dreamed of. The greatest crime in connection with the Dominion Trust was that such a concern was ever allowed to accept deposits, contrary to the law of the Dominion. The crime was at the beginning and not at the end. The collapse was only the result. The appointment of A. C. Flumerfelt assures the Mackenzie-Mann forces proper representation in the cabinet, which is just as the Tories consider it should be, since Mackenzie and Mann are of much more importance than the mere people of British Columbia. Mr. Flumerfelt, if he is elected, will be a thoroughly capable corporation representative. The same applies to Lorne Campbell, who will also be able to look after the big companies' interests, if elected.

The chief kick coming from the north is the treatment meted out to William Manson. To consign our esteemed friend William to the presidency of the council is distinctly unkind. This is the kind of treatment which was handed Carter-Cotton when the Tories wanted rid of him, and the same dose was administered to A. E. McPhillips when he had made himself a nuisance. It is not to be inferred, however, that William has been raising any shindy around Victoria. Such a thing could never be done by Mr. Manson, but it seems that, since Dr. Young was no more in the cabinet, the north must have some kind of representation, and as William had always been a good boy, capable of saying his lessons, he would not raise a whimper if side-tracked into this job. Never mind, William, you will be relieved of it soon.

BRITISH GOVERNMENT TO "BLACKLIST" TRADERS
 London, Dec. 16.—The government proposes to form a "black list" of enemy traders in neutral countries with whom British firms will be prohibited from trading, said Lord Robert Cecil, under secretary for foreign affairs in moving in the house of commons today the second reading of the bill which he presented in the house on December 8th, designed to restrict trading with possible hostile interests. The list, he continued, would not necessarily be confined to persons of German nationality, but would include such as were by the nature of their business substantially enemy firms and could safely be cut off from British intercourse without serious injury to British trade. The solicitor general explained that the purpose of the bill was to forge another weapon with which to cripple the enemy.
