REAL GOOD SHOW AT THE MAJESTIC THEATRE

The seven-reel show at the Majestic tonight provides items of interest for all. The star feature is a "Bud and Ham" comedy, in which Bud plays a low trick o his old partner. It is screamingly funny. "The Millinery Man" is a pretty little comedy drama, in which a young society man wins a hat-trimming competition at a bazaar, and follows it up by going into business. His success spells failure for a struggling young milliner, whom he ultimately marries to square matters. "The Stone Heart" is the story of a girl who is dragged down by poverty, but finally wins out.

"The Park Honeymooners" is a beautiful series of summer and winter views of Central and Brooklyn Parks, with a honeymoon couple in the foreground.
The entire show is good, each item carrying something of interest.

THANKS

press their sincere thanks to the household effects, lost at the fire in the Dyer Apartments, on the evening of January 8th. 13-14
