GERMAN SUBMARINE CAMPAIGN RENEWED

HUNDRED NEW UNDERSEA BOATS BUILT—UNITED STATES SENATOR PROTESTS

GERMANS HAVE BUILT HUNDRED NEW TYPE SUBS.

Russians Now Occupy Fortress of Erzerum—More Prisoners are Taken—Activity on the Western Front.

(Special to The Daily News.)

Geneva, Feb. 18.—The Journal states that Germany has built one hundred submarines of a new type with which to renew the submarine campaign with increased vigor.

It is reported from another source that these new submarines are large enough to make a return trip across the Atlantic without renewing supplies.

Russians Occupy Erzerum.

Petrograd, Feb. 18.—Twenty-five more guns and fifteen hundred more Turkish prisoners have been taken at Erzerum. The Russians now occupy the fortress. The town is on fire.

Western Front Active.

Activity on the Western front is reported by the British, French and Italian commanders.

HANS SCHMIDT MET DEATH FEARLESSLY

(Special to The Daily News.)

New York, Feb. 18.—Father Hans Schmidt was electrocuted today for the murder of his paramour, Anna Aumuller. He met death fearlessly, holding a crucifix in his hand and protesting his innocence to the last.

WEIRD STORY OF HUMAN SUBMARINES

An extraordinary story has reached me concerning a sort of human submarine (says the Daily Chronicle correspondent at Amsterdam.) The tale runs that the Germans have perfected a waterproof suit, within which the soldier is supplied with the necessary air and can remain under water for two hours, during which period his movements are only limited by his powers as a swimmer. The apparatus is alleged to have already been used in rivers, canals, and floods, on the western fronts, also is capable of use against stationary warships and for laying mines and electric wires. It sounds like Jules Verne, and I give it for what it is worth.

THE "APPAM" PHOTOGRAPHED AT ANCHOR IN HAMPTON ROADS, VIRGINIA.

This is the Appam photographed as she dropped anchor off Old Point Comfort, flying the German ensign from her stern. The boarding cutter in which some of the crew of the ship tried to escape when the German raider first made its appearance, is shown. Inset is a picture of Lieutenant Berge, taken upon landing.

FOUR RIFLES AND SHOT GUN COMMANDEERED

Between one and two o'clock yesterday morning, the window of Mr. F. Brochu's store on Third Avenue was smashed and four rifles and a shot gun extracted. A wrench, taken from the garage next door, was found in the window, having been used by the intruder to smash the glass.

A chauffeur, employed at the garage, says that, when he arrived with his car shortly after one o'clock, he noticed a man inside the garage and, on going inside, the intruder was lying on the floor apparently drunk. Paying little attention to him, the chauffeur went upstairs and, on returning, found that the man had vanished. Some time later, he heard glass break but paid little attention to the fact and did not connect it with the supposedly drunken party until he heard of the burglary.

LIVES LOST DURING STORM AT KETCHIKAN

Two Philipinos and one Japanese boy left Ketchikan last Saturday on the launch Comet en route to Loring, but were caught in the heavy gale that raged all Friday night and most of Saturday, off Pup Island and by some unknown way they succeeded in getting ashore after leaving the boat a total wreck.

Some time Sunday a small boat came along and picked up the Japanese boy on the beach, who was almost dead from frozen feet and exposure to the cold since Saturday morning, and brought him to Ketchikan and put him under medical aid. Today he is reported doing very well and will recover.

The two Philipinos who were found dead a short distance from the beach were picked up today.—Ketchikan Miner.

ANARCHIST CHEF DEFIES THE POLICE

(Special to The Daily News.)

New York, Feb. 18.—Jean Crones, the anarchist chef at the University Club who attempted to poison three hundred prominent Roman Catholics at a banquet last week, is still defying arrest. Crones has sent a copy of his finger prints to the police along with a note of defiance.

AUSTRALIANS ARE BUILDING BI-PLANES

Australia has been supplying men, ships, horses, equipment, and supplies in doing her part in the great war. There has been wonderful activity throughout the whole Commonwealth with a view to winning through both so far as the war on land and sea is concerned, and also the commercial war which aims at preventing Germany from regaining her position in the world's trade. Australia is building ships locally and has arranged for the establishment of a government arsenal. The latest development is the local construction of bi-planes. For the first time an Australian built aeroplane engine attached to an Australian bi-plane was recently tested in actual flight at the Commonwealth Aviation School. A B. E. machine, of Australian construction, was flown with a 70 h. p. Renault aerial motor, manufactured in Melbourne workshops. This engine was built some little time ago, when the Defence Department colled for tenders for aeroplane engines in Australia. The event was viewed with interest by a number of the officers of the Defence Department.—Ex.

AUTO ACCIDENT IN FOG AT SEATTLE

(Special to The Daily News.)

Seattle, Feb. 18.—Thos. Blair, aged 45 is dying and Thomas Edwards, aged 65, is injured as a result of Blair's auto having collided with a Mount Baker car during a fog.

The 48th Battalion is quarantined at Shorncliffe for measles. The boys do not say if they are of the German variety.

DESPERATE GERMAN PLOT IN MADAGASCAR

Paris, Feb. 18.—Six hundred arrests have been made in connection with a plot to foment a revolution in Madagascar. The scheme was to poison and kill all French officers and white colonists on the island on December 31st last.

The plot was financed and arranged by German agents and documents which have been discovered at the German consulate show that the plans were prepared before the outbreak of the war.

"THE TRUTH ABOUT HELEN" AT THE MAJESTIC THEATRE

"The Truth About Helen," the three-act drama at the Majestic tonight, is the story of an elopement which went wrong and which was followed by serious complications. Helen Moore runs away with Raoul Kent, the nephew of a senator. The car breaks down and they seek refuge in an hotel. There they encounter a company of politicians, amongst them a former lover of Helen's. Kent comes out in his true colors and the former lover goes to the rescue of Helen. He is seen in the young lady's room by a political rival, who uses the story against him in the papers. Eventually the truth comes out, as always, and all ends nicely. It is a most interesting story full of human interest and dramatic situations.

"A Slight Mistake," a fast and furious comedy, and "Railroad Raiders of '62," a thrilling railroad drama, complete a good show.

POLICE COURT

Simon Williams, an Indian, was brought up at the police court this morning on a charge of selling game out of season. He was released on suspended sentence.

Ben Harris, the party who appropriated six bottles of liquor and some clothing belonging to a fisherman on the Malolo, is to come up when called, the prosecutor having failed to appear against him yesterday.

SIR HIBBERT TUPPER WILL ASSIST LIBERALS

(Special to The Daily News.)

Vancouver, Feb. 18.—L. D. Taylor, ex-mayor of Vancouver and formerly proprietor of The World, has entered the by-election as an independent candidate.

Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper will speak in support of the candidature of M. A. Macdonald.

The Trades and Labor Council met last night and refused to endorse L. D. Taylor.

"THE JUNGLE LOVERS" AT THE WESTHOLME THEATRE

Bessie Eyton scores a great success in "The Jungle Lovers," the great three-act drama at the Westholme. This play is staged right in the heart of the jungle and includes some hair-raising adventures amongst the kings of the forest. The scenes are remarkably realistic.

"A Madcap Adventure" and "Lotta Coin's Ghost" are both extremely funny comedies. Ham and Bud are the artists in the latter, and that is all that need be said.

"The Sacred Bracelet" is a most pathetic little drama which will appeal to all, while "A Night's Adventure" provides a reel of thrills and excitement. The program is splendidly varied and should prove highly interesting.

AUSTRALIAN LAND FOR DISABLED SOLDIERS

The minister of lands in New South Wales is developing his scheme for the settlement of returned wounded or disabled soldiers on the land, or at any rate those soldiers who desire to secure farms. Altogether 1,000 farms will be made available throughout the state during the next twelve months. Each man will be able, if necessary, to secure an advance of $500 to develop his holding.—Ex.

SUBMARINES TO TORPEDO ARMED MERCHANTMEN

United States Senator Protests Strongly against New German Submarine Regulations—To Submit is Unneutral.

(Special to The Daily News.)

Washington, Feb. 18.—Count Von Bernstorff announces that Germany will insist on the recognition of all her demands regarding the new submarine regulations. The submarines will torpedo all armed merchantmen without warning after February 29th.

Senator Lodge, in a speech in the Senate, vigorously opposes the alteration in the regulations. He says that to abandon the principle that citizens are free to travel on merchantmen which are armed only for defensive purposes, would be an unneutral step toward the United States allying herself with that belligerent nation whose merchant marine is now swept from the seas.
