PEACE PETITION

The best news which has come from Europe for many months is that of the peace petition to the German government by the bankers, merchants and ship owners of Hamburg, Lubeck and Bremen. These far-seeing, calculating business men have stripped the situation of all its false glamor and have looked the facts straight in the face and they have seen disaster. They have witnessed the sweeping away, by the ruthless hand of war, of the efforts of generations. These merchants, bankers and ship owners have been instrumental, with the assistance of Berlin, in building up an overseas trade which has been the wonder of the world. No corner of the globe was too remote and no political situation was too awkward for them to handle. While Britain and France were content to amble along in the old way, with individual firms outbidding each other and overlapping each other in the rush after business, these German business men combined and worked along systematically until they were able to build up markets for their goods in which they defied competition.

There is nothing hysterical about a petition from men of this stamp. They have been waiting for victory for eighteen months, and now they realize that victory is not to be theirs. Still, they seem to think that the question of peace is still in the hands of Berlin. In this, along with the rest of Germany, they are utterly mistaken. The question of peace or war was in the hands of Berlin on August 2nd, 1914, but since that time it has been transferred to the Allies, and they will call for peace when Prussia has been brought to her knees.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

The poor Armenians must be having the time of their lives in assisting the Russians to dispose of the Turks. They have countless old scores to wipe out, dating back for generations.

The Kaiser appears to be not a little concerned over the big Russian advance. Bill had better get there in person, then he will be able to join in the run.

The Vancouver Province is observing a strict neutrality in the forthcoming by-election so far.

It has been suggested that the government make a public beauty spot of the post-office site lake, with miniature gondolas for the benefit of the youngsters. Incidentally, the gondolas would provide a few more government jobs in these hard times.

We have not heard much of our old friend Von Hindenburg recently. His performances have been completely overshadowed by the Russians who are chasing Von Der Goltz.

The News-Advertiser scores M. A. Macdonald because he outlines Tory election methods, while Boss Bowser warned the Liberals months ago that this would be a "dirty" election. What the Tories are capable of in a "dirty" election may be estimated by their methods in a so-called "clean fight."

The Victoria Colonist, in a struggle to find a reason why Mr. Flumerfelt should be elected in Victoria, says that the province requires a strong minister of finance. The Colonist might truthfully have gone further and admitted that the province requires a strong representative government in place of an absolute

MONEY AVAILABLE FOR MINING DEVELOPMENT

"Never in the history of the west has there been so much real money available for mining enterprises as there is at the present time," said F. C. McKinnon after a stay of several months in the mining districts and cities of the south. He devoted most of his time in the interests of the Highland Boy and succeeded in interesting capital in that property, which will insure its development into a shipping mine.

So far as this district is concerned it means that a person has to take a particular property and go among the men with money and interest them in it. Good men are not running around looking for prospects.

While in the south Frank met a lot of old timers from this district and they appear to be doing well. O. B. Wallace is in Wallace, Idaho, working a property; Geo. Jennings is working a property at Wardner; P. J. Jennings is at his home in Spokane; Mrs. and Miss Layton are in Wallace. Geo. Jennings is expecting to come to New Hazelton this summer.—The Omineca Herald.

monarchy with Bowser on the throne.

The Colonist treats the by-elections as matters of small significance, but well it knows that Bowser will hail victory as equivalent to a new endorsement by the people of the province. The issue is one of Bowserism against democracy.

SPECIAL SEVEN-REEL SHOW AT THE MAJESTIC

"The Vanishing Vases," the chief item in a good program at the Majestic, is a story of "the bitter bitten." A wealthy old curio collector is held up, he overcomes his assailant and then offers him $1,000 to steal two famous vases from a museum. The thief succeeds, but is refused his $1,000. He plans revenge and has the old gentleman trussed up and is rifling his safe when detectives come on the scene and ultimately both are "jugged." It is exciting and sometimes amusing, and always interesting.

"Father's New Maid" is extremely funny, with our old friend "Sweedie" posing as the maid, and the old fellow making love to "her." There is a bright reel of Lubin cartoons and two dramas of real worth. It is a good show.

Fancy cups and saucers to clear at 25, 35 and 40 cents, Tite's, the home furnisher.
