PANIC

Evidence of the state of panic into which the Bowser followers have been driven by the crushing defeats in Vancouver and Victoria is to be found in their methods in the house. After the Vancouver debacle, wholesale promises of every imaginable kind of reform and new enterprise were made in order to bring about the return of the now forgotten Mr. Flumerfelt. The house has now been in session for about two weeks and the members of the government have devoted most of their time to a fruitless effort to discredit the opposition which has been returned by the people.

The Premier, in his big speech, did not utter a single word about the Prohibition Bill, which he so readily promised to the Prohibition party, much to the disgust of such followers as Mr. McLean, of Nelson, and many others. Neither did he make any mention of the great shipbuilding scheme which was to be started within ten days, whether Mr. Flumerfelt was elected or no. So far, the bulk of the time of the house, which costs the people $1,000 per day, has been taken up with abuse of the men who really represent the people. The fact of the matter is that the time was spent in one last effort to redeem the fortunes of the fallen political machine.

The point on which the government and the opposition differed most sharply in the recent debates in the house was one which was kept in the background during the elections. We refer to the voting of $15,000 per annum to Sir Richard McBride, besides a grant of $5,000 to the Hon. J. H. Turner, in addition to a pension of $6,000 a year. Of course, the new premier made the promise of this big salary at a time when he did not reckon on having any opposition to speak of, and when he felt that British Columbia must keep up its reputation as a spender. Sir Richard has always been a source of expense to the province, but this is no time to offer him a retiring allowance which is higher than the salary of the Prime Minister and much higher than that of the High Commissioner for the Dominion. In refusing to agree to any such piece of wanton extravagance, Mr. Brewster will have the people of the province behind him.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

The measure which Bowser is most anxious to get through is the appropriations for the year, which will give the party a big fat election fund at the people's expense.

Mr. McLean, the member for Nelson, in a fit of Scotch excitement seems to have displayed his real feelings in regard to prohibition, same feelings being couched in language befitting the man and the party he represents.

The Tory organizers and the road bosses are very busy these days preparing for the general election, but they can't fool the public this time.

The Germans have made a few "final" attacks on Verdun, but the fifth is evidently not going to be any more successful than its predecessors, even if the Kaiser is there in person.

Sinking lightships is the latest diversion for German submarines. The Huns are simply piling up a huge debit balance which they will be obliged to wipe off.

Eating for Pleasure, Eating for Strength, are two distinct propositions—but both operations are combined in Shredded Wheat Biscuit, the food that is pleasing to the palate, that makes healthy tissue and gives strength to mind and body. It is what you digest, not what you eat, that nourishes the body. Every particle of Shredded Wheat Biscuit is taken up by the digestive organs and converted into muscle, bone and brain. Try it for breakfast with hot or cold milk or cream, or for any meal in combination with sliced bananas or other fruits.

BIG DETECTIVE DRAMA AT THE WESTHOLME THEATRE

"The Thumb Print," a great four-act detective drama, is the big feature of a good program at the Westholme tonight and tomorrow. The title alone suggests all the excitement and thrill of a Sherlock Holmes novel, and doubtless the play will be just as interesting as one of these. There is also a Selig-Tribune Gazette, showing the latest news of the world. Our old friend Ham is also there with his cute little partner in mischief and fun in a comedy entitled "Ham the Statue." Judging by his former appearances, Ham will be the liveliest statue ever seen. "Too Much Turkey," a rollicking comedy, completes the seven reels.

"THE MYSTERY OF MARY" AT MAJESTIC THEATRE

"The Mystery of Mary," a sensational three-act drama, is the star item at the Majestic tonight and tomorrow. It is the story of a young lawyer who found a girl, who was evidently of good family, in distress. He assists her by giving her some of his sister's clothing and puts her on a train for Chicago. Later he meets her at the house of a friend and discovers that she is an heiress whose cousin has tried to have her proven insane in order to grab her fortune. The couple get married and the cousin abducts the young wife. Exciting scenes follow, in which Mary is retaken by her husband. It is a thrilling story.

"Black Eyes," a real good comedy, "The Broken Train, an exciting railroad drama, and "Jarr Takes a Night Off" make up a good show.

"The Goddess," featuring Anita Stewart, one of the greatest serials ever, starts on Monday evening.
