SALMON MONOPOLY

The salmon fishing season is coming on apace and there is no sign that any good has resulted from the meeting held in Prince Rupert some months ago with the Pacific representatives of the Fisheries Advisory Board. It is true that the board readily granted an extension of the ground covered by a herring licence, but the vexed questions of the salmon fishing remain just as before. The big interests are evidently to have things all their own way for another season, unless the fishermen again get busy and co-operate with their fellows in the south to have the fishing regulations put upon a more equitable basis. The Fishermen's Protective Association in Vancouver is preparing to take action in the matter and it would do no harm for the men of the north to get busy once more.

The Oriental comes north for the season and returns south in the fall, taking the bulk of his season's wages with him, leaving the north not a cent better off than he found it. The canneries are at present controlled from the south and all their business is done there. It is not suggested that the canning interests should transfer their head offices to Prince Rupert, but it is surely up to the government to issue licences to any independent white fishermen who desire them and to issue cannery licences to any company which is able to carry on the business. It is ridiculous that salmon fishing should today be carried on under regulations which may have been necessary when there was no centre of population in the north, and there is urgent need for reform.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

There is now no doubt that it was a German torpedo which hit the Dutch liner Tubantia. It will be interesting to see what action Holland takes. Like the United States, she may be content to resort to notes which mean nothing and accomplish just that.

Judging from what took place at Madison Square Gardens on Saturday evening, there are at least two Americans who are not "too proud to fight."

The German cruisers are becoming quite bold, two running fights in as many weeks must be quite encouraging to the boys of the North Sea fleet.

The news of Villa's capture is long in coming through and it begins to appear as if the gentleman had made his escape after being defeated.

After two weeks of complimentary remarks and regrets over the departure of Sir Richard, the provincial legislature will get down to real business this week.

The McBride-Bowser government by its handing over $75,000 to J. S. H. Matson to do as he liked with did more to injure the credit of British Columbia than all the opposition speeches that were ever uttered.

The mayor did more than assist in the placing of the Private Bill while in the south, having been able to get the annual payment on the Wark Channel rights reduced from $2,000 to $200.

OTTAWA'S ATTITUDE TOWARDS PROHIBITION

could not find itself justified in passing a prohibition measure.

Since then the scene has changed and all the Borden government had to do was to listen to the figures quoted by Mr. Stevens, one of its own supporters, to realize that the situation in regard to prohibition is much more exigent than it was eighteen years ago. Times, as the philosopher remarks, change and we change with them. For example, Quebec is now three-quarters dry, under local option, and is as keen for it, thanks to the leadership of the clergy, as it once was against it. In short, Quebec has moved bodily from the nineteenth century into the twentieth. Ontario—I quote Mr. Stevens' figures again—is two-thirds dry, New Brunswick is eighty per cent. dry, Nova Scotia is entirely dry, except Halifax, which is booked to surrender this year. Prince Edward Island is entirely dry, and, in addition, is entirely surrounded by water. Alberta will go dry next July, Saskatchewan has the dispensary system, Manitoba, already more than half dry, will have voted on total prohibition before this article sees print, and British Columbia will shortly have a plebiscite on prohibition, it being Premier Bowser's idea that if he can beguile the people with moral reform they may overlook the misdoings of the government.

These figures fortified by the example of Russia in abolishing vodka, France in cutting out absinthe, and Great Britain in lowering the percentage of alcohol in beer and curtailing the hours

LAND REGISTRY ACT.

Notice Under Section 36.

TAKE NOTICE that an application has been made to register Olaf Hanson, of Prince Rupert, B. C., as the owner in Fee-simple, under a Tax Sale Deed from the Collector of the City of Prince Rupert to Olaf Hanson, bearing date the 10th day of September, A. D. 1915, in pursuance of a Tax Sale held by said Municipality on or about the 9th day of September, 1914, of all and singular certain parcel or tract of land and premises situate, lying, and being in the City of Prince Rupert in the Province of British Columbia, more particularly known and described as:—Lot ten (10), Block eighteen (18), Section six (6), Map 923.

You and those claiming through or under you, and all persons claiming any interest in the said land by descent whose title is not registered under the provisions of the "Land Registry Act" are required to contest the claim of the tax purchaser within forty-five days of the service of this notice upon you. Otherwise you and each of you will be forever estopped and debarred from setting up any claim to or in respect of the said land, and I shall register the said Olaf Hanson as owner in fee.

Your attention is called to section 36 of the "Land Registry Act" and amendments, and especially to the following extract therefrom which relates to the above notice.

"And in default of a caveat or certificate of his pendency being filed before the registration as owner of the persons entitled under such tax sale, all persons so served with notice, or served with notice under subsection (6) of section 155 of the 'Municipal Clauses Act, 1906,' or section 293 of the 'Municipal Act, 1903,' or section 139 of the 'Assessment Act, 1903,' or section 253 of the 'Taxation Act,' in cases in which notice under this Act is dispensed with as hereinafter provided, and those claiming through or under them and all persons claiming any interest in the land by virtue of any unregistered instrument, and all persons claiming any interest in the land by descent whose title is not registered under the provisions of this Act, shall be forever estopped and debarred from setting up any claim to or in respect of the land so sold for taxes."

Dated at the Land Registry Office, at the City of Prince Rupert, Province of British Columbia, this 19th day of January, A. D. 1916.

of sale, were Mr. Stevens' chief arguments. One might have supposed that they would have tempted Sir George Foster to jump into the ring with a warm word or two in favor of his special hobby. Sir George has been a cold water man ever since he was old enough to think. Long before he was a statesman he was a temperance lecturer and lived at the altar of total abstinence. Soon after he became a cabinet minister, some thirty-two years ago, he introduced a prohibition resolution to the house which was carried by a round majority, but no further. Having justified his principles by this one attempt, and finding it bad form for cabinet ministers in a Conservative government to monkey with cold water resolutions, he let it go at that and never tried again. Privately he was as strong a reformer as ever, but officially he was not caught working at it. When the Liberals came back in 1896, Sir George experienced a recrudescence of feeling on the subject and spoke vigorously from time to time. But since the Conservatives were returned to power in 1911 and Sir George accepted the responsibilities of office under Premier Borden, he has eased off again. The theory among his teetotal friends is that if Sir George isn't saying anything he is brooding deeply. If he saw any wood it isn't at home in Ottawa.

The truth is that when Sir George saw the prohibition move.
