THE PLOT EXPOSED

We gather from J. L. Sullivan's evidence in the plugging enquiry the following facts:

1. J. L. Sullivan had been told by Sullivan, Sr., four or five days before election day, that the "pluggers" were coming to Vancouver.

2. On the following day he received a letter from his friend Carroll stating that he had been asked to "get men to vote for Macdonald," and asking him what he thought of it. Strange to say, he "DID NOT ANSWER THE LETTER," but "took steps to stop any plugging."

3. His first step was to forward the letter by James Reed, license inspector, to the Conservative executive, whereupon he was called upon by F. W. Welsh, who informed him that the matter had been discussed with the premier and Mr. Tisdall and "they would stop the men at the border." But, strange to say, although the premier and Mr. Tisdall had all the powers of the Provincial and Dominion Governments at their backs, THEY DID NOT STOP THEM AT THE BORDER.

4. On Feb. 24th he returned to Seattle and met Carroll and White, who were both his friends, and who told him that one was handling a gang of men, and the other the money. IF HE HAD NOT BEEN IN LEAGUE WITH THEM HE WOULD NOT HAVE BEEN GIVEN THE INFORMATION.

5. At the boat in Seattle he saw Monty White and fifteen others and sent a wireless to F. W. Welsh. If the object was to have them stopped or arrested on arrival, it is strange that NO EFFORT WAS MADE TO PREVENT THEIR LANDING IN VANCOUVER.

6. An elderly man having told him that more were going to Vancouver by train that day, another wireless was sent to Welsh. NO EFFORT WAS MADE TO ARREST THIS BATCH AT THE TRAIN.

7. On Friday afternoon, the day before the election, he heard from his brother Pat, that more men were coming by boat and train. He carried the news to Mr. Reardon of the Metropole hotel; Mr. Egar, secretary of the Hotel Keepers' Association, and on Friday night he and Reardon WENT TO THE TRAIN TO MEET THE ARRIVALS. THEY DID NOT HAVE THEM ARRESTED.

8. Sullivan got into touch with Joe Hoskin, an ex-alderman in Vancouver (a vice-president of the Conservative Association), and also Secretary Love of the Conservative Association, notorious in connection with the Price-Love vote buying correspondence. As a result Sullivan went to Westminster and met the night train and saw Carroll and others. Joe Hoskin met the train in Vancouver. NO ONE WAS STOPPED. NO ONE WAS ARRESTED AT EITHER TRAIN.

9. They went up to the Irving hotel; Sullivan and Waller and Stewart were there, also Monty White. THE IRVING IS SULLIVAN'S HOTEL AND GAMBLING JOINT, FAMOUS AS THE ONE TIME HOME OF DEAF MICKEY and the BIG NUT. IT IS ONE OF THE HOTELS THE MACHINE APPOINTEES OF THE GOVERNMENT THINK THE POLICE SHOULD NOT INTERFERE WITH.

10. All the various gangs remained in Vancouver during election day. Sullivan was not only acquainted with nearly all of them, but knew them intimately. NOT ONE WAS MOLESTED.

11. Although the premier, the Hon. Mr. Tisdall, the Conservative executive, F. W. Welsh, the prospective candidate; Joe Hoskin, a vice-president; Secretary Love of the Conservative Association, the secretary of the Hotel Keepers' Association and other prominent Conservatives—all of whom were burning with a desire to land the "pluggers" in jail—knew of their movements, they were, one and all, allowed to conduct their nefarious operations throughout election day, and to depart in peace to their haunts and lairs in the Seattle underworld. The attorney-general, the chief law officer of the crown, whose duty it was to arrest and prosecute these drones of alien rascality, had been told by Sullivan what was in progress, BUT MADE NO ATTEMPT TO TAKE A SINGLE CRIMINAL INTO CUSTODY.

12. THE REASONS ARE MORE THAN OBVIOUS. THE WITNESSES HAVE STATED THAT THEY PLUGGED "FOR THE WET CANDIDATE" IN ORDER TO "KEEP A LOT OF GOOD FELLOWS IN POWER."

CANADIAN OFFICER INVENTS NEW CARRIER

Captain Archibald, an officer in the Canadian Expeditionary Force, has invented a carrier for the soldier's knapsack which is designed to take much of the weight from off the shoulders. Its chief feature is a broad strap which passes across the top of the head, with side straps which attach to the belt. Captain Archibald got his idea from the "tump-line" used by the Indians in packing heavy loads in the woods. The device has been taken up by the British war office.
