BOWSERIAN EXCUSES

When M. A. Macdonald administered such a trouncing to C. E. Tisdall in the Vancouver by-election in February, the Bowserites claimed that the result was due to the fact that so many thousands of Conservatives voted for the Liberal candidate.

C. E. Tisdall, however, attributed his defeat in February to the fact that he was poorly supported on the platform. The poor man could not expect strong platform support since his speakers had to try to defend Bowser's action in allowing the Dominion Trust Company to break the law of the Dominion in order that it might grab the hard-earned savings of Vancouver's workmen.

Bowser's excuse for the debacle was that his machine organization had fallen down, evidently having taken it for granted that Bowser's candidate could not be defeated.

All these Bowserian reasons have been set aside in a wild effort to stem the tide of disaster, in fact, the Bowser campaign resembles pretty much the desperate Austrian efforts to escape from the Italians and to stop the Russians at the same time.

over A. C. Flumerfelt. In both cities, there was an extraordinarily heavy poll, the reason being that, at the previous election, many thousands of electors were quite content to let things slide, as they had such glorious dreams of real estate wealth. Today, the people of the province are awake to real conditions, and are experiencing no illusions.

The Bowser party is issuing pamphlets which seek to show that nothing was discovered in the public accounts enquiry. The people of the province read the evidence and have arrived at their own conclusions on this score, so that the Bowser pamphlets will be of no more effect than the reports of the hand-picked committee were.

A prominent Manitoba Conservative was in the city the other day, and in discussing the political situation here, was asked if, as a Conservative, he would not vote against Bowser. He replied, "In politics I have always been a Conservative, but I have always tried to be honest in all my transactions."

The Bowserites seek to excuse the Parliament Buildings scandal on the ground that contractor McDonald lost money on the deal. Harry Price, in awarding the sub-contracts, saw that his friends did not take the contracts at too low prices.

The Bowser excuse for reducing the Mackenzie & Mann registration fees from $14,000 to $200 was that the company was in difficulties and the bond-holders were in England, while similar treatment had been meted out to the Salvation Army.

According to the hired Bowser press, H. C. Brewster is out to put the province of British Columbia out of business, just for the fun of the thing. Any sane man knows that H. C. Brewster's plans are carefully laid for the remodelling of the whole system at Victoria and the putting of the province on a sound basis, financially and industrially.

MARGARITA FISCHER AT THE MAJESTIC THEATRE

"A Girl From His Town," the four-act Mutual Masterpiece at the Majestic, is delightfully entertaining. Margarita Fischer, as a village choir girl who has become a musical comedy star, is in a role which suits her perfectly. She is in love with the world and the male half reciprocates. There are many amusing situations, especially when stout, sedate, old Mr. Ruggles sets to work to head her off from marrying a wealthy youngster in whom he is interested. It is a most enjoyable photoplay from start to finish.

There is also a good Mutual Weekly showing vivid Mexican scenes, including a picture of Villa and his staff. A pretty little drama entitled "Seeds of Jealousy" and a most laughable comedy make up a good show, in which the music is a most pleasing feature.

There will be bright speeches at the Liberal rooms on Friday night. Be there.
