The Monetary Times, a paper which cannot be accused of being partisan in politics, has the following to say in regard to the result of the South-West Toronto election, and the remarks are peculiarly applicable to the present situation in British Columbia.

"In the South-West Toronto constituency of Ontario this week a Liberal candidate defeated a Conservative nominee and transformed a government majority of 4,000 into an opposition majority of 643. The event in a strongly Conservative province leads the Monetary Times, which has never taken a part in partisan politics, to repeat what was stated in these columns after a similar event in the North Perth constituency of Ontario.

The Ontario government may easily discover the reasons which accounted for the defeat of their candidate by reading the heart of the rank and file. They are ignorant or blind to the dissatisfaction of members of their own party and of voters at large. The Ontario cabinet has become a bureaucratic institution in a democratic country. That is the verdict of hundreds of Conservatives who will take the strongest possible measures, as they say themselves, 'to teach the government a lesson.' The dislike of bureaucracy is shared by the opposition and by independent voters who are becoming more numerous as years pass because of the unsatisfactory political state.

The same argument applies to federal politics and to politics in other provinces. The political machine has been running the country, and the people being generally regarded as automatic parts of the machine to be cranked at will. While the blame for the present condition rests with the country at large, the time has come when the people are beginning to revolt. They do not like bureaucracy, or premiers (some without backbones, some without honesty), or bribery and corruption in high places, all of which they have had in the last few years in nauseating quantities. If politicians refuse to read the signs they will have to taste defeat at the polls. Defeat of such mistaken ideas of government is good for the country."

NOTES AND COMMENTS

Publishers throughout the country are finding the price of newsprint steadily increasing. The Daily News does not intend to reduce its size, but subscribers can help out the situation considerably by keeping their subscriptions paid up.

Knowing well that M. A. Macdonald had nothing whatever to do with the "plugging," the Journal now refers to him as "Donald, the pluggier." This is typically Bowserian and will be taken at its true value.

In referring to the Liberals, the Journal says, "Anything to be opposite is the policy of that party." Does the Journal expect self-respecting Liberals to favor the Bowser slavery system; the ruining of thousands by the Dominion Trust Company; the payment of $80,000 to Hamilton Read; the payment of $75,000 to Joe Matson; the handing over of millions illegally to the P. G. E.; the sinking of the province under an $80,000,000 railroad indebtedness, and the taking away of the livelihood of workmen because they refuse to support a corrupt government.

Hon. William Manson failed to get for Prince Rupert what he helped get for Point Grey. The Brewster government will have the privilege of helping Prince Rupert out of the difficulties into which it was plunged by the late speculative government.

Letters have been received in the city from soldiers who formerly supported Bowser. They say that they on this occasion voted against the government and that an overwhelming majority of the boys did likewise.

"Soapy" Welsh managed to get lists of the Bowser candidates into the military camps in England, though the Liberals were debarred from getting lists of Liberals there. The Bowser lists were placed on the tables of the mess rooms. The boys found them useful in knowing who not to vote for.

Hon. William Manson is silent in regard to T. D. Pattullo's challenge to meet and discuss the issues. The last thing William desires is open discussion. He prefers to allow his machine men to use their own type of argument. This argument costs the province an enormous amount of money, but what do they care.

REMARKABLE DRAMA AT THE MAJESTIC THEATRE

"The Price of Her Silence" the big film at the Majestic tonight, is rather out of the usual. The trouble begins with a love affair between a chauffeur and his employer's daughter.

An elopement is nipped in the bud but the lovers meet again on a yacht. The vessel is burned at sea and they escape with the captain, who, just before dying, marries them. They land on a barren coast and shortly after the husband is caught by a shark while spearing fish. A ship's crew land to get water and rescue the young widow. She is restored to her family and then complications ensue. The climax is dramatic in the extreme and the play points a moral in regard to telling the truth first instead of last. The rest of the bill is good and the music as usual of the brightest.
