NATIONAL FISH DAY CELEBRATION YESTERDAY

At the "Fish Day" luncheon in the Central Hotel yesterday at one o'clock, under the auspices of the Board of Trade, Mr. George W. Nickerson presided over a gathering of about eighty. After a splendidly varied lunch of fish dishes had been disposed of, Mr. Nickerson called upon Mr. T. H. Johnston, manager of the Canadian Fish and Cold Storage Company, to address the company.

At the outset, Mr. Johnston pointed out that the National Fish Day had been declared by the Canadian Fish Association, of which there are several members in the city, with the object of making Tuesday of each week a fish day, in addition to Friday.

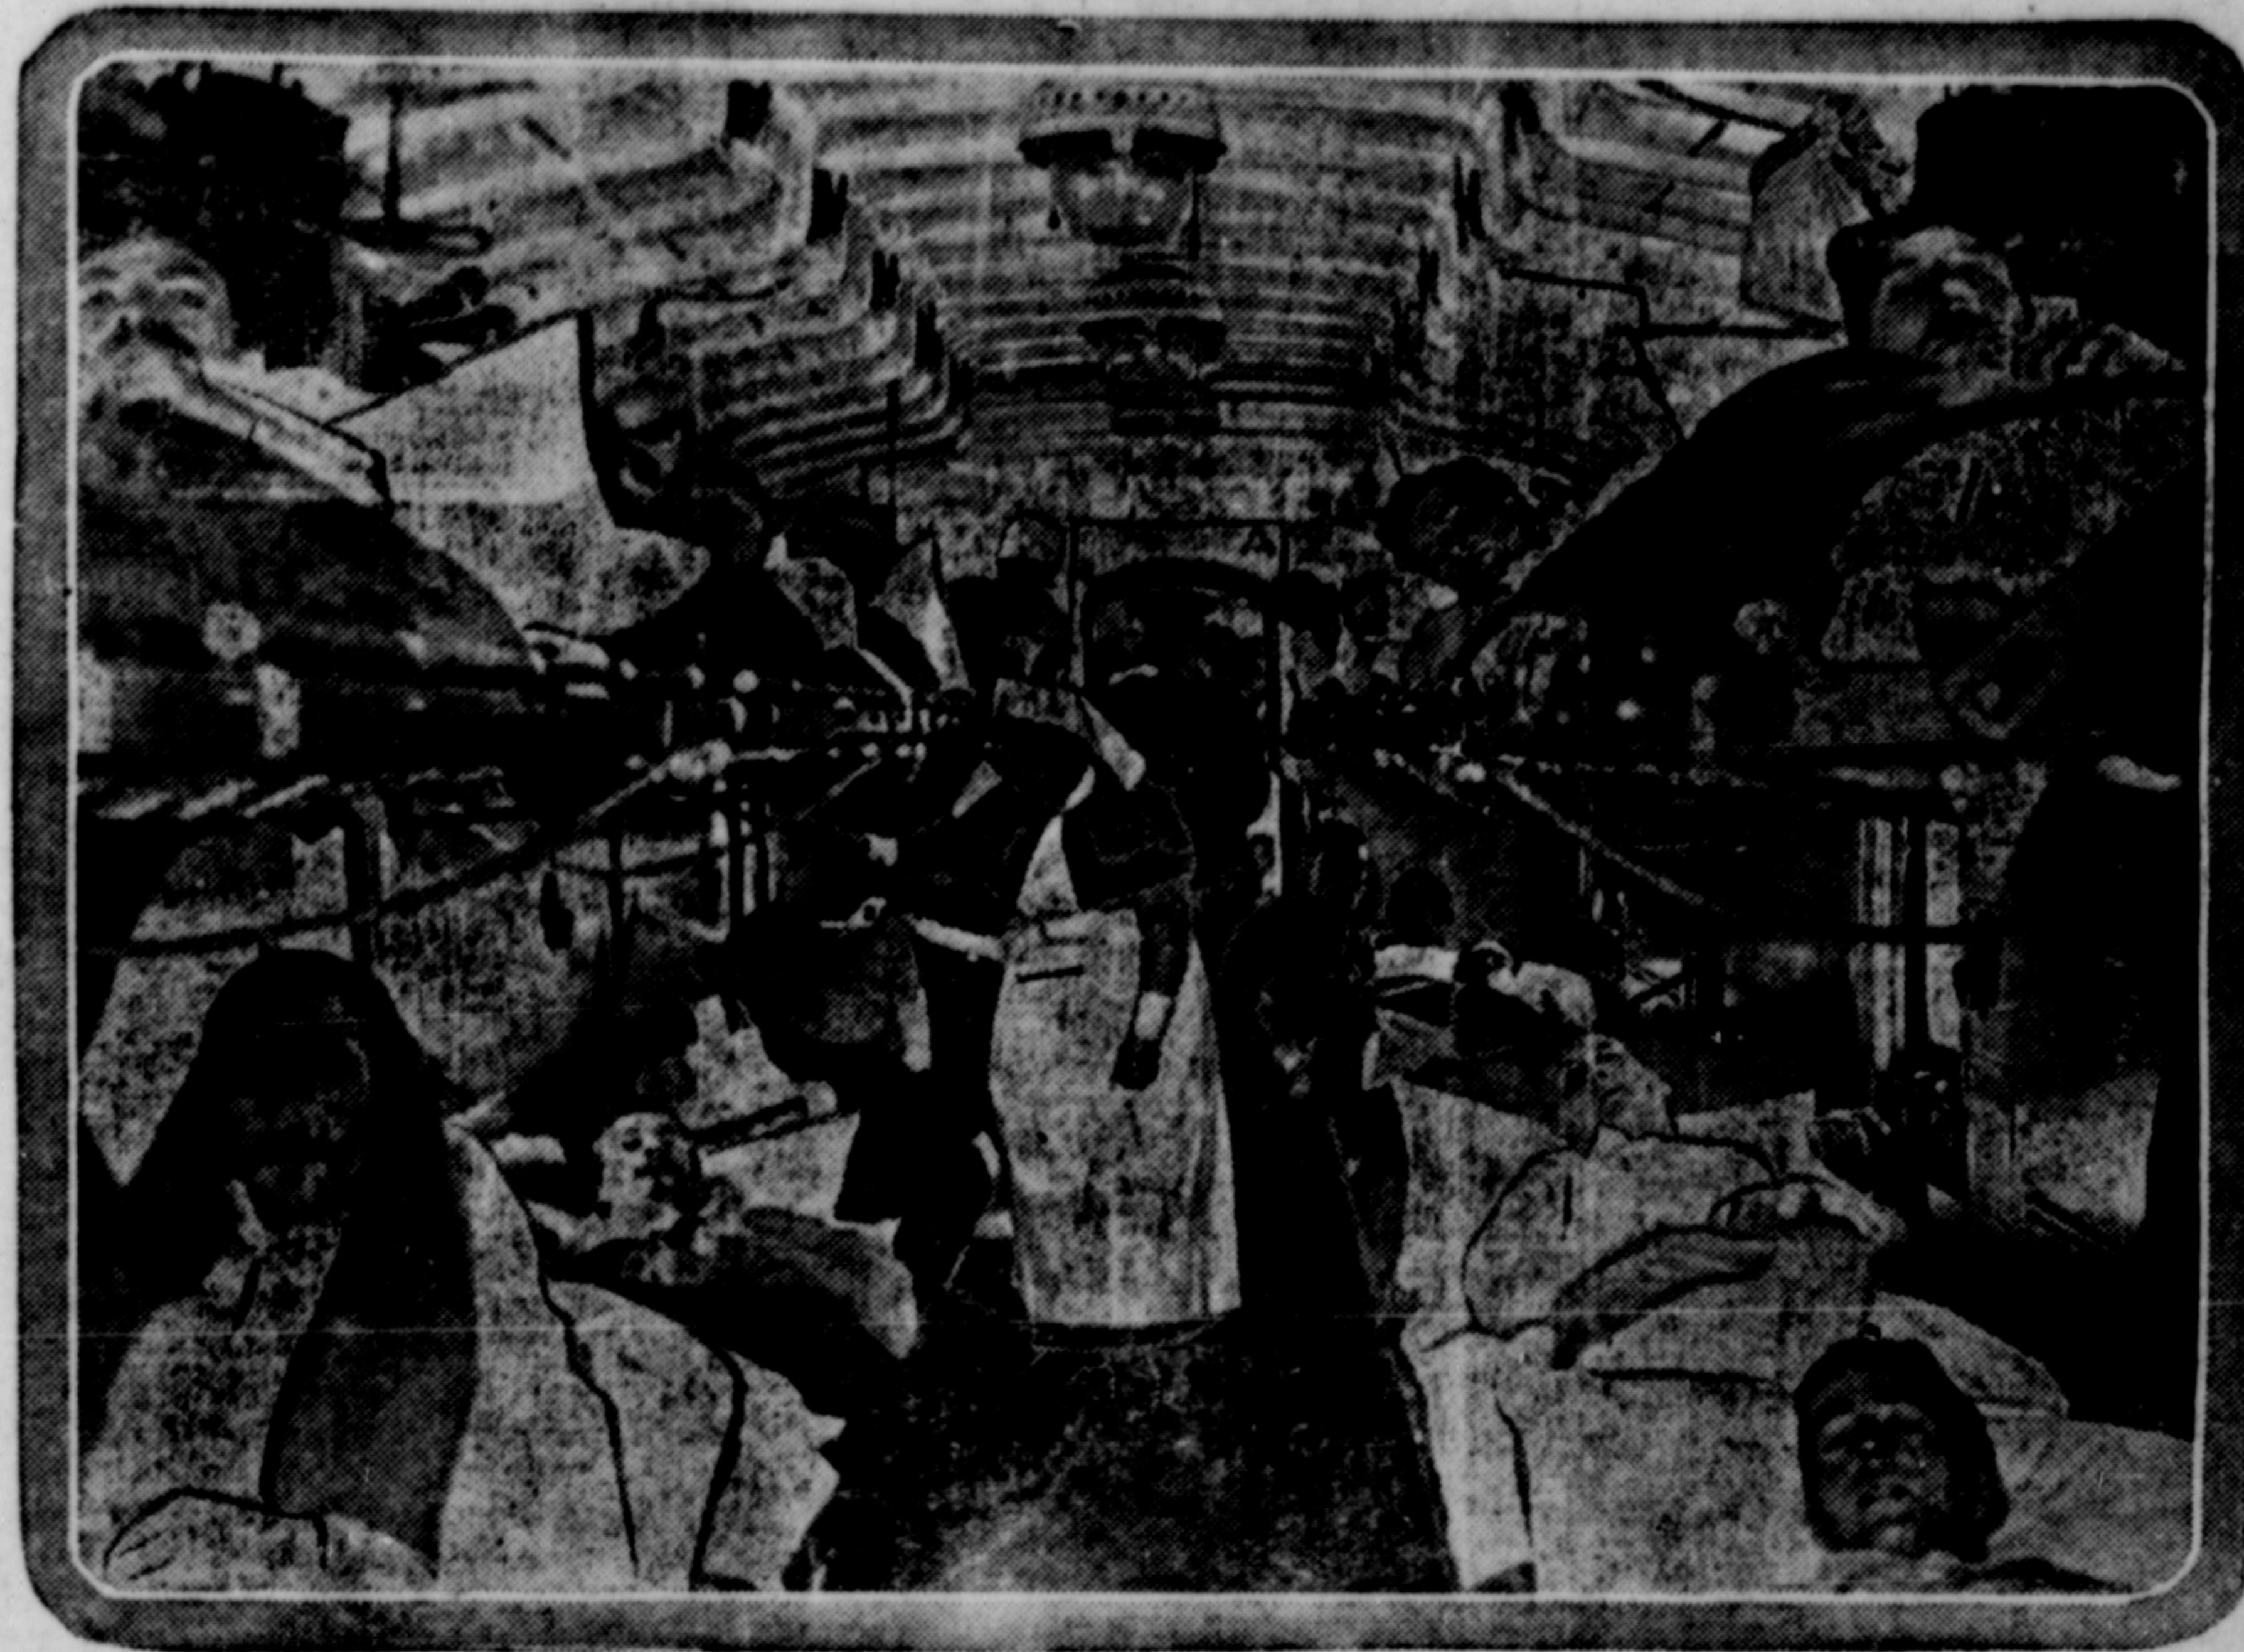

The speaker then quoted from several southern papers to show that Prince Rupert has come to be considered the natural centre of the Pacific coast fishing industry. He emphasized the fact that now that the title had been won, it is up to us to see that it is upheld.

"There is only one word necessary to tell how this can be done," said Mr. Johnston, "and that is the word 'Service.'" By service he meant the providing of every facility for the handling of fish by the railroads; the construction of suitable docks, cold storage plants and the careful supplying of bait and outfit generally. "It is only by giving the best possible service that we can hold the fishing industry," said the speaker.

Mr. Johnston went on to remark that it had been stated that Prince Rupert had stolen the fishing business. He contended that the industry had centred here because Prince Rupert had provided the best facilities for it, and also by reason of the geographical position of the city. He characterized the present volume of fishing business as a compliment to the foresight of the capitalists who had placed their money in the construction of the great transcontinental railway in the north. Their dreams of future development had come true. He held that the mere fact that the American fishermen had come here in such numbers proved that they found better facilities here for the handling of their fish than elsewhere.

"How can we hold the trade?" asked the speaker, to which he replied, "only by giving the service." Though at the moment he was dealing solely with the fishing industry, this applied to all industries. In the first place the fisherman must see that he brings in a good quality of fish, as quality always demands price. "Today, we have an opportunity to build up a trade, while fish is scarce in other places, which will hold after the war is over and other markets have been opened up," said the speaker, "and Prince Rupert must make a name for fish of quality superior to that of other quarters. Let Prince Rupert stand for 'fish,' as Winnipeg now stands for wheat."

The fish must be properly taken care of in the boats; carefully

MASQUERADE BALL WAS GREAT SUCCESS

Last evening in the Railwaymen's Hall a Grand Masquerade Ball was given by the Hill 60 Chapter of the Daughters of the Empire. The hall was tastefully decorated to suit the occasion, and the ballroom presented a brilliant spectacle, thronged with the gaily-clad dancers. Despite the inclement weather, about seventy-five couples were present and dancing was kept up until three o'clock this morning.

At 11:30 the grand march took place, followed by the judging of costumes, after which everyone unmasked. The ladies' prize, a beautiful cut-glass vase, was awarded to Miss E. A. Barbeau, who represented a Spanish Senorita, and the gentlemen's prize, a fountain pen, to Mr. Harry Astoria, who represented a Chinaman. Mesdames Dawson, McClymont and Patmore acted as patronesses and judges. Following the unmasking, all sat down to a dainty supper, after which dancing was resumed, and to the strains of the home waltz, the dance broke up about 3 o'clock. The Westholme orchestra supplied their usual high standard of music.

iced and dressed so that they are handed over to the buyers in perfect condition. If the fisherman fails in his part, the error can never be rectified, as, once a fish is spoiled, it is spoiled for all time. There is no possible chance of its being used for eating or in any other way.

He described the business as a chain, with the fisherman at the one end and the housewife at the other. They must be linked up so that the consumer in Montreal may buy Prince Rupert fish in perfect condition and at a reasonable price. All parties must be satisfied with their share of the transaction.

He thought that "Service" (Continued on Page Two)

MISS CLARA BARNESLEY AND MR. A. L. ROBINSON WED

Yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock in St. Andrew's Church, Miss Clara Barnesley, the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Barnesley, was united in matrimony to Mr. Arthur Leonard Robinson, of the government mail service. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Canon Rix in the presence of a gathering of friends.

The bride, who wore a travelling costume, was given away by her father, and was attended by Mrs. Sidney J. Winsby, while Mr. Winsby supported the bridegroom. After the service, the wedding party adjourned to the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Barnesley, where supper was served. The happy couple left for the south on the Chelohsin last night, and despite the inclemency of the weather, there was a large party of friends at the wharf to wish them godspeed. Mr. and Mrs. Robinson will reside in Victoria.

Though born in Victoria, Miss Barnesley has always been looked upon as one of Prince Rupert's own daughters, her parents having come here in the very early days of the city. She was a valued member of St. Andrew's Church choir, in which church she was confirmed by Bishop Du Vernet. As a vocalist, she will be missed by all, as she took a prominent part in most of the big concerts held in the city.

KITCHENER STOLEN

In the Returned Soldiers' Club on Second Avenue there hung until yesterday a large portrait of Earl Kitchener, of which the boys were naturally proud. Today it is gone. If the party who removed it has no regard for the feelings of the soldiers, he may have a wholesome regard for his own skin, in which case he had better put the picture back in its place.

CASSIAR QUEEN HAS STRUCK NEW VEIN

R. P. Trimble, the well known mining man, arrived last evening from the interior on his way to Portland, Ore. He reports that work on the Cassiar Queen is proceeding satisfactorily and that a new vein has been struck, the extent of which is not yet known. It was discovered in a cross-cutting from the main tunnel, which is in about 400 feet now. The ore in the new strike is very similar to that of the main vein.

MYSTERY FEATURE AT WESTHOLME THEATRE

Helen Holmes in "The Girl and The Game" is screened at the Westholme tonight, when this daring actress will be seen in some more of her hair-raising "stunts." The big feature is a four-act drama entitled "The Mystery of Room 13," which sounds mysterious enough for anyone. There is also a Selig Tribune Weekly showing violent artillery firing along the Somme. There will be as usual a very fine musical program.

On Thursday and Friday, Grace Cunard and Francis Ford will be presented in the second episode of the fascinating serial "Peg O' The Ring."

RED CROSS SALE

Friday's sale of home cooking in aid of the funds of the Red Cross Society will be conducted by Mrs. McClymont and Mrs. A. M. Manson. Our boys have been through heavy fighting recently and the casualty lists are ever growing, so that the demand for hospital supplies is still increasing. Ladies are invited to bring what they can in the way of cakes etc., as a large supply can always be disposed of.

A. R. Stacy, who has been in Prince George and Vanderhoof, returned last evening on his way to Vancouver.
