RETURNED SOLDIERS

A recent issue of "Punch" contains a cartoon of a man rowing a boat loaded with the members of his family. It was entitled, "A Convalescent". To row the heavily laden boat was evidently all he could do. Like many of the amusing drawings in "Punch", it was a picture to make one think as well as smile. Here is a man, who has risked his life for his country, recovering from wounds which probably have brought him very near to death. Under the careful treatment of the doctors and nurses, he has regained his strength and is apparently just as well as ever. The fact that he has not been allowed to return to the trenches, however, means that he has been to a certain extent disabled, and the probability is that, in spite of his appearance of sound health, he is not so able to face life with so much vitality as he once did.

Life has been aptly described as a river, and a river flows steadily on. Men must either row hard against the stream, or drift with it. The man who has to row against the stream, carrying the load of a family with him, has, in most cases, a hard struggle, even if he is in perfect condition. What of the man who is weakened seriously as a result of wounds sustained in this desperate war? It may be that he will struggle gamely with the dogged pluck which he displayed in the trenches, and, when he realizes that he is not the man he once was, he may begin to drift. Every war of the past has produced its quota of drifters, some because they had not the strength to resume the struggle; others because they had not the inclination.

The Returned Soldiers' Associations which are being formed throughout Canada will do much to encourage, and imbue with new hope, the men who have gone through the valley of death and come out bearing traces of the struggle. The chief aim of these associations is to take care of and guide those who require assistance, and they are worthy of the support of every citizen, as they are to a large extent going to relieve the authorities of a very heavy burden. The huge national debt resulting from the war and the care of the returned soldiers are the two great problems facing Canada and the Empire. That the soldiers themselves are wide awake to the situation, and that they are already building up their fences against the future, is one of the healthiest signs of the times.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

Many mining experts from the south have looked over this district during the fall and summer and several deals are likely to result. Next spring should see a big awakening in mining, which is still in its infancy here. Alice Arm, the Islands and the various mining districts in the hinterland of Prince Rupert are almost certain to be quite busy next summer.

Miners are really just beginning to realize how rich this country is in ores of wide variety. Following the development of the ore bodies must come smelters, refineries, etc. These follow in the natural course of things. Grow wheat, and elevators and railroads will spring up inevitably; develop mines, and smelters and refineries follow just as certainly.

Amongst those who had bets

"The White Flour Pinch"—have you felt it? With the advancing price of wheat "the seven-cent loaf is doomed," say the bakers. In its place we have the eight-cent loaf—in many cities only the sixteen-cent loaf. A loaf of white flour bread is not a complete ration. However wholesome and pure, it does not supply all the proteids the human body needs. In Shredded Wheat Biscuit you have all the body-building nutriment in the whole wheat grain prepared in a digestible form. It is always the same price, always the same high quality. Eat it for breakfast with milk or cream or with fruits.

Made in Canada

up on the presidential election there must be some pretty badly strained nerves. Every bulletin which came to hand brought new tremors of excitement and first one then the other side claimed to be certain of victory. The losers will have four years to recover.

The Liberals of the interior had quite a little family squabble the other day. Such a squabble is always indicative of independence of thought and it is far better that differences should be expressed openly. When they are carried around and nursed in secret they simply grow from mole-hills to mountains.

ON THE WRONG FOOT

The Switchboard, which describes itself as "the leading illustrated magazine of the B. E. F." contains plenty of good stories. One of the best reads:—

"We came out of the trenches one bitterly cold night, and were billeted in a farm, where we were packed like sardines in a tin. Though numbed with cold, we were soon asleep. I was awakened in the night by one of our chaps trying to put his boots on. After he had been trying for a minute or two I heard the fellow next to him say—'What the — are you doing?'

"Putting my boots on," was the reply.

"Well, that's my foot, you fool!"—Exchange.
