

Dances Afternoon Receptions And Other Functions Graced by the Ladies of Rupert.

We have recently received a splendid range of materials suitable for

Afternoon and Evening Gowns

a range as up-to-date as could be found in any city. They would make a most effective window display and we would be glad to show them that way but fear to expose them to the strong northern light of our windows.

They come in light all-wool fabrics in the latest novelties, in poplins, cords, wool and silk stripes, crepes, delaines, etc., and we shall be glad to have you look them over.

You will be surprised at the beauty, the variety and the moderate cost of these materials, and we hope that you will conclude that there is no necessity to send out of town for such things when you can get so good a choice at home.

Boats May Call at More Points on Observatory Inlet

CAPTAIN NICHOLSON HERE

He Leaves on Monday to Look Over Territory—Will Determine Whether Business on Inlet Demands More Boats

Mineral wealth of all kinds is being unearthed in that tract of land known as Observatory Inlet.

There is some sign of the place coming into its own. At present G. T. P. boats do not call at points beyond the Naas Harbor on the Portland Inlet. On Monday Captain Nicholson, manager of the G. T. P. steamships, who arrived in the city this morning from Vancouver on the S. S. Prince George, will leave for the Inlet to look over the territory there and try to take a peep into the horoscope to see whether the business of the place would warrant the freight boats of the company calling at points along the coast. If he finds that the settlers would be helped materially by a service of boats then one will in all probability be inaugurated at once. Naturally Prince Rupert will benefit by a better service of boats to Observatory Inlet.

Classified - Advertisements

One of the best services the modern newspaper gives the public is in the classified advertisement columns. There buyer and seller, employer and worker, landlord and tenant, and a host of others meet on common ground. To put this modern convenience in reach of everyone the News will reduce its rate to a nominal price of a cent a word per insertion. Minimum charge of 25 cents. Here is our Classified Advertising Column for today. Watch it grow.

The Massett Indian Band will not take part.

Survey parties under Mr. Nash, are working on the Yakour River and at Juskatla Bay.

FAREWELL TO MR. LEEK

Leek farewell before he leaves next week to represent the regiment at the Coronation of King George V.

Gave the Sergeant a Watch Captain Fred Stork went down into his knapsack and drew out a tiny little parcel.

The sergeant was ordered to stand at attention. Then the captain said many nice things to the sergeant on behalf of the rank and file, hoped the honor of the regiment would be upheld, etc., and as a parting gift would the sergeant accept the little parcel from the regiment.

The sergeant opened the little parcel and found in it the cutest gold watch in little leather case to be worn round the wrist. This was not all. A couple of men struggled up to the rostrum and heaved over a cigar almost as big as the sergeant as a further souvenir. The sergeant did not expect these presents but he made his comrades understand that he appreciated their kindness and would do his best to be a good representative of Earl Grey's Rifles at the Coronation. He had eighteen years of military service behind him but he had never sworn in under a better lot of officers or with a better lot of men than where he now found himself. Lieutenants McMorde and Agnew also congratulated the sergeant.

Color Sergeant Leek leaves for England next week.

Everybody went away happy wishing the guest of the evening all kinds of success and happiness.
