Soft, Clear, Smooth Skin Comes With The Use Of "FRUIT-A-TIVES".

NORAH WATSON
86 Drayton Ave., Toronto,
Nov. 10th, 1915.

A beautiful complexion is a handsome woman's chief glory and the envy of her less fortunate rivals. Yes a soft, clear skin—glowing with health—is only the natural result of pure blood.

"I was troubled for a considerable time with a very unpleasant, disfiguring rash, which covered my face and for which I used applications and remedies without relief. After using 'Fruit-a-tives' for one week, the rash is completely gone. I am deeply thankful for the relief and in the future, I will not be without 'Fruit-a-tives'."

BRUCE REPORT NOT PUBLISHED IN FULL

George Perley, who hasn't much color of his own, has taken color from his environment and is at this moment a good deal more British than he is Canadian. This, however, is only reasonable in a naturalized Canadian who was born in the United States.

The Baptee report also intimates that Colonel Herbert Bruce knows little or nothing about hospital organization. In view of the fact that Colonel Bruce has been connected with the Toronto General Hospital for twenty-five years and is now the manager and president of the largest private hospital in Canada, the Baptee statement is laughable. The head of the Baptee commission, by the way, has not attended a patient in twenty-five years. On the other hand, Colonel Bruce has probably not missed a day in the same period when he did not perform a major operation on some patient or other. Colonel Bruce's qualifications in regard to knowledge and experience are unexceptional. His standing as a surgeon with one of the most lucrative practices in Canada and nothing to consider but his reputation for correct diagnoses, makes it morally certain that Col. Bruce had no object but the truth in view when he made his report.

The Baptee report does not attempt to contravene Colonel Bruce's statement that the Canadian hospitals in England are better hospitals than the English ones. Its only answer to this is that the service in Canadian hospitals costs twice as much per day per patient as it does in the English hospitals. Friends of the wounded soldiers will ask what kind of answer is this? Why shouldn't the cost be twice as much when the service is probably four times as good? Besides nothing is too good for our wounded heroes. Our gratitude doesn't stick at a matter of three shillings a day.

Colonel Bruce reported that Canadian soldiers should be segregated in Canadian hospitals for three good reasons—because they were among their own friends, because they had doctors there who understood them, and because they did better and convalesced more rapidly in the homelike Canadian atmosphere. This segregation idea was no doubt the cause of Colonel Bruce getting himself disliked by the Tory politicians in England, who are opposed to segregation, because it deprives them of the chance to make converts of the Canadian soldiers when they are in a weak state of mind and body, and send us back Round Table Imperialists instead of the good Canadians we sent over. This is not a square deal. We love the British Empire enough to fight and die for it but we love Canada too, and would like to have a few Canadians left after this cruel war is over.

The fate of Colonel Bruce's report, together with the fact that his office of Inspector General has been abolished, shows how Sir George Perley, Overseas Minister of Militia, is prepared to handle any good Canadian who comes over there with the idea of telling the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth. The whole truth? Great heavens, not even half-truths are allowed. It isn't done, you know. If it were, there would be some startling revelations as to the number of supernumerary colonels and other officers now loafing around England or making occasional excursions to the front, where they have nothing to do. Rumor has it that these colonels were to be given the option of becoming lieutenants and going to fight, or going home to Canada and taking off the khaki. This was a false alarm. Those who want to stay in England will be allowed to stay as usual. Those who want to go home will be allowed to go home, but they will not be asked to resign either their pay or their khaki. Under this heading comes the M. P. colonels who are now on their way home "on leave" for the parliamentary session.—H. F. Gadsby.

The Poor Man's University

"JONES knows more about motor cars than any other man I know," said a man to his friend. "He has obtained his knowledge chiefly from motor car advertisements, and the catalogues and booklets circulated through them."

"All I know about photography," declared a well-known amateur, "I have learned from the men who advertise cameras, plates, papers and films."

Advertisements have been well called "The Poor Man's University," but other than poor men have been schooled thereby.

Much of what the average individual knows concerning personal and domestic hygiene, modern office methods, books and authors, electricity, precious stones, investments, and almost everything else, he has learned from advertisements.

Advertisements have stimulated our intelligence, added enormously to our knowledge, and given us aspirations which have raised us to higher levels of thinking and living. Advertising is indeed "The Poor Man's University."

If you are doing a local business talk over your advertising problems with the Advertising Department of this newspaper.
If you are doing a provincial or national business it would be well for you to have the counsel and assistance of a good advertising agency. A list of these will be furnished, without cost or obligation, by the Secretary of Canadian Press Association, Room 503, Lumsden Building, Toronto.
