PEACE TREATIES ARE IMPOSING DOCUMENTS

When the war comes to an end a treaty of peace will be signed, sealed, and delivered, as between the various belligerents.

This will be a most imposing document, written by hand throughout, sealed with many seals, and bound about with green silk ribbon. Following the usual custom, each copy will begin with the words, "In the Name of the Most Holy and Undivided Trinity," should, however, Turkey be one of the signatory powers, as seems probable, this formula will be altered to "In the Name of Allah the Almighty God," in the copy allotted to her.

At least as many original copies as there are signatory powers will be signed and sealed, while several certified copies will be signed, but not sealed, for the sake of convenience. The original copies will be securely locked up in the State archives of the different countries; the certified copies will be used for printing from for reference.

Peace treaties are not written straight across the page, or pages, like ordinary documents. They are written in parallel columns, one in English, the next in French, the next in Italian, German, Russian, and so on, according to the number of languages spoken by the peoples of the signatory powers. The text of each of these columns is an exact translation of the text of all the other columns, and the utmost pains is taken in the selection of words that will convey identical shades of meaning.

The monarchs of the signatory powers do not affix their signatures or seals to the peace treaties entered into by them. This important formality is carried out by specially accredited peace commissioners.—Exchange.
