I. O. O. E. GRAND CONCERT AT WESTHOLME THEATRE

Forty girls, fair and dark, short and tall, but all pretty and charming, called forth a gasp of surprised admiration as the curtain of the Westholme Theatre rose on Tuesday night. It was rather a surprise to most of the audience that Prince Rupert could mobilize so many pretty girls. But these young ladies of Chapter Hill 60, of the Daughters of the Empire, were there in the interests of Red Cross work and proved conclusively to a packed house that Prince Rupert has a wealth of local talent in its midst, vocal, instrumental, histrionic, and executive.

The programme presented such variety that it seemed incredible it had been carried entirely to its successful issue by the girls unassisted. The most ambitious effort was without doubt the cantata, "The Lady of Shalott," conducted by Miss Ethel Eason. Miss Eason is deserving of special credit for getting such a well-balanced and finished production. The choruses were especially well rendered, the tonal qualities and the articulation being very fine. The solos were taken by Miss Nickerson, Miss Florence Hardy, Miss Beatrice Killen, Miss Gladys Derry, Miss King and Miss Muriel Patmore. They were sung with exceptional finish and expression.

There were also two very pretty glee renditions by the choir, entitled "Wind of the Western Sea" and "Night Sinks on the Wave."

The seriousness of the musical programme was well balanced by the rest of the numbers. "The Reader" with Miss McGregor as "Jemima" brought roars of applause. The other sketch was "The Revolt," in which Miss B. McLeod as "Susan Jane Jones," made most militant suffragists look tame. All the parts were well taken and the plays were vastly enjoyed.

Miss Ruby Dimmick, Miss Grace Shockley, and Miss Reid won an encore by their rendering of the "Three Old Maids of Lee." There was a violin solo by Miss King, who had to respond to a recall.

Altogether the concert was a great credit to its sponsors as it was a pleasure to those who attended. The proceeds are said to be in the neighborhood of four hundred dollars.
