VANCOUVER COP PUT A JUDGE UNDER ARREST

Judge McInnes Disobeyed the Order to "Move On"—Policeman Arrested Judge in Presence of a Big Crowd and Sent for the Patrol Wagon

(Canadian Press Despatch)
 Vancouver, May 19.—The spectacle of a British Columbia judge tripped by the arm by a Vancouver policeman on Hastings street, while the officer telephoned to the police station for a patrol wagon to come and take the judge to the station, caused a crowd of two thousand to gather this morning. The crowd was so great that it blocked the traffic.

Didn't Know His Man
 The joke was rather on the policeman who didn't know that when he ordered two inoffensive-looking gentlemen to "Move on?" that one of them was Judge McInnes. His Honor, who considered he was committing no crime by standing talking on the

RAWLER SCOUTS FOR RUPERT

Part of Sir George Doughty's Fishing Fleet Coming Out

Three trawlers, the newest and best of Sir George Doughty's fishing fleet are being sent out to make the long journey to Prince Rupert this summer from Grimsby, England. The trawlers are to act in the capacity of scouts as it were, for a greater trawling fleet which Sir George proposes to place on the coast with Prince Rupert as its base.

Sir George Doughty made investigations while out here regarding the possibilities of the fisheries of British Columbia, which are so great that they would give employment to a very large number of fishermen, and he expected to establish a great fishing depot like those on the west coast of the North Sea on this coast.

It is also his intention to enter the coast whaling business, and will place the three vessels in the whaling service, and will investigate the herring business. Sir George Doughty is largely interested in the fisheries of the North Sea, and has many vessels with headquarters at Grimsby.

TEN VESSELS ARE WRECKED

Hurricane Does Terrible Damage Off New Hebrides

(Canadian Press Despatch)
 Sydney, Australia, May 19.—Reports have reached here of terrible damage done along the coasts of the New Hebrides during the hurricane this week. Ten vessels are reported ashore at different places, and eight persons are reported drowned.

It is a good plan to put a little money away as a reserve fund. Why not put ten dollars a month into a lot? H. F. McRae & Co. have good ones on these terms.

WANT TO BAR ALL JAPS FROM BRITISH COLUMBIA

Martin Burrell and His Colleagues Advocate Drastic Measures—Urged the Government Not to Renew Trade Agreement with Japan and China

(Canadian Press Despatch)
 Ottawa, May 19.—Oriental immigration, especially as it affects the future well-being of British Columbia, came up for discussion in the House of Commons last night when Hon. W. S. Fielding moved for the House to appoint a committee to consider a resolution for extending the existing trade agreement with Japan.

Mr. Martin Burrell, member for Yale-Cariboo, at once urged that Canada should abandon its efforts to develop a large trade with Japan and China, and adhere to the new treaty between Great Britain and Japan. So far as Canada was concerned he urged that measures be taken to restrict or to prohibit the immigration in Canada of Japanese.

BREAKS RECORD IN TELEPHONING

New York Speaks with Denver—Two Thousand Mile Talk

New York, May 18.—For the first time in history the human voice carried 2,000 miles Monday night, when New York found Denver over a long distance telephone wire. "A phantom" telephone, connected with four copper wires, the thickness of a lead pencil, brought the cities together and in all 22 people were exchanging messages by telephone and telegraph at once over these four wires. While the talkers talked, 16 telegraph operators worked the New York-Chicago ends of four duplex telegraph wires. The same four wires and the same current sufficed for the simultaneous needs of the 22 senders and receivers of messages.

AFTER SEVEN DAYS ADrift SEAL HUNTERS ARE RESCUED

Worn Out With Toil and Suffering from Lack of Food, Two Boat Crews from the Sealer Pescawha Reach Prince Rupert Harbor---Missed Their Vessel in Haze off Banks Island---Had to Row Two Hundred Miles Along Coast, Living on Clams.

Worn out with fatigue and want of food, after working their small openboats for over two hundred miles along the coast on a diet of clams with an occasional bird brought down with an otter rifle, the above-named six men of the crew of the schooner Pescawha reached Prince Rupert yesterday and set out for the south with their boats by the Prince Rupert this morning.

Lost Schooner

The men left the schooner on the 12th, in Hecate Strait between Banks Island and Queen Charlotte Sound in two boats hunting for sea otters. During the afternoon a baffling heat haze obscured the horizon and they completely lost track of the schooner. By chance the two boats which had been separated, met, and keeping together searched for the ship till night. Then they tried to reach land twenty-five miles off. There were provisions and water in the boats for only one meal. It was late on the 13th when they sighted the coast, and all were in distress with hunger and thirst.

Inhospitable Coast

Surf was breaking on the rocky shore, and for a time it was difficult to land at all, but at last a landing was effected, and sheltering themselves under the boats' sails stretched on the oars, the men spent the night. They found some water, and managed to light a fire, but not until low tide did they find some clams. They had no idea where they were, but next day continued their journey northwards along the coast trying to find an inhabited place, and eating mostly shellfish. Sometimes they managed to shoot a duck, but the food they could get was far too scanty.

Made Kitkatla

Struggling along like this from point to point on the lonely coast the famished men reached Kitkatla on the 16th. Here they found only Indians, and for some unexplained reason they did not succeed in getting any food. But an Indian told them in broken English how to reach Claxton where he said they would find white men. Wearily they set out again, but mistaking their direction they took the wrong side of Porcher Island, and had again to spend a night on the rocks without food.

"McCullough" Saved Them

On Thursday the 17th, they were off the mouth of the Skeena, and here the tug McCullough met them and Captain Herbert Clifton took them on board and fed them royally. They were utterly tired out with rowing, and rested the night before setting out directed by Captain Clifton, for Prince Rupert. Yesterday morning, however, they came on here, arriving about mid-day.

Good for Capt. Johnston

Going to Mayor Manson for advice and assistance to take them home, they told their story, and the Mayor at once gave them an order for food, and said he would find work for them if they wished until they could pick up their schooner again. The men have homes down south, however, and feeling that they have had enough of the sea to last them for a while, they were anxious to go below. Captain Barney Johnston of the Prince Rupert came to the rescue and swinging the two seal-boats aboard, arranged for the accommodation of the seamen as far as Vancouver. They left this morning at eight o'clock.

Two Hardy Sea-dogs

Bob Stewart, who was looking pretty haggard after his experience, and Joe Morrell, who wears still a look of anxiety, are both well known seal hunters, and have had many perilous experiences. Bob Stewart was lost in an open boat 47 miles off the coast of Trinidad six years ago when he was sealing with the schooner "Hatsy." The present experience is his fourth of this kind. Joe Morrell has been in similar plight three times at least, once off the coast of Japan. But both men declare that this latest adventure of theirs was very nearly the last. They are making for home for a long spell ashore before they face the sea again.

Schooner Still Searching

The sealing schooner Pescawha as reported by wireless, in charge of Captain Bert Balcom, and is still in the neighborhood of the Queen Charlotte Islands though probably all hope of finding the missing boats has now been given up by the captain. Wireless messages have been sent to the Islands to inform Captain Balcom of the rescue of the men.

RALPH CONNOR SAYS THE END IS FAR OFF

Chairman of Conciliation Board on Miners Strike Rather Pessimistic About an Early Settlement—No Patched Up Agreement Will be Entertained, He Says

(Canadian Press Despatch)
 Winnipeg, May 19.—Dr. C. W. Gordon, (Ralph Connor), who was appointed chairman of the Conciliation Board to inquire into the labor troubles of the Western Miners, returned home today and spoke in very pessimistic terms of the prospects for an early settlement. "The Board could patch up a temporary agreement, and make a hasty settlement of the matter, but that was done before. What is wanted now is a thorough inquiry and a proper settlement which will last for many years to come," he said. He said that the enquiry will be resumed in two weeks' time, the Board would continue its work until a proper settlement was arrived at, and the men all back at work.

DELIMITING THE BOUNDARY LINE

Will Give Canadians Exclusive Right to Halibut Banks

The Dominion Government has entrusted an important work to Mr. F. H. Mackie of the astronomical staff of the Department of the Interior. It is to make a survey of the boundary line from the head of the Portland Canal to the open sea. The work will take the party of ten three seasons to complete, and involves most careful calculations.

It is probable that monuments will be established at different points on either side of the canal, indicating their distance from the actual boundary in the channel. At the entrance of the canal the boundary line swings due west terminating directly south of Cape Muyon at the south end of Prince of Wales Island, Alaska.

According to the Canadian contention this will make Dixon Entrance between Prince of Wales Island and the Queen Charlotte Islands territorial waters of Canada, ensuring exclusively to Canadians the right to fish on the greatest halibut banks in existence.

NORTHBEND BACK

Brought Coal, Will be Used to Carry Lumber

With a cargo of coal for the railway service, the old Northbend was towed back to the harbor yesterday after having been repaired down below. The hulk will now be used for bringing lumber across from Queen Charlotte City.

Grand Trunk Steamers

Instead of tomorrow, the George will arrive on Sunday, as she had a Seattle excursion contract to fulfil. The Prince Albert will take her Stewart trip this week, and will go on Monday to Skidegate, and the Queen Charlotte ports. This temporary alteration of the regular schedule will in all probability be the last for this season.
