Soft, Clear, Smooth Skin Comes With The Use Of "FRUIT-A-TIVES".

NORAH WATSON

Nov. 10th, 1915.

A beautiful complexion is a handsome woman's chief glory and the envy of her less fortunate rivals. Yet a soft, clear skin—glowing with health—is only the natural result of pure blood.

"I was troubled for a considerable time with a very unpleasant, disfiguring Rash, which covered my face and for which I used applications and remedies without relief. After using 'Fruit-a-tives' for one week, the rash is completely gone. I am deeply thankful for the relief and in the future, I will not be without 'Fruit-a-tives'."

GREAT SPEECH BY THE PREMIER ON CIVIL SERVICE

politics and for the same reason because of which Lincoln felt impelled to expostulate against a system which is nothing more nor less than a source of nervous exhaustion and loss of time and energy. (Applause.) How many times has a man in politics been met with the statement, either direct from the man himself or conveyed to you by his friends, that he was going to work and vote for you because he expected that when you got in you would "look out for him." That system must go if we are to have a proper civil service. (Cheers.) We must have, to repeat what Mr. Gladstone said, the position where all who want public employment will be assured of advancement in proportion to their abilities and services.

Judged by Competency.

That is one of the things we have to deal with, that when a man has passed his probation, proved that he is a good civil servant, he will have an incentive to advance "in proportion to his abilities and services." That is a feature of the bill which I hope will be received in the proper spirit by this legislature. The time is past when any man in the service or out of it can hold any position because of his being a Grit or a Tory; that day is past, and he must be judged only by his efficiency and his value to the service. Those who hold positions by means of political favor, and not by efficiency, I can see no power under heaven to keep them in the service, drawing money they do not earn.

Returned Soldiers.

A unique section in the bill is that which defines what a returned soldier is. Never before was there a chance to show honor to those who have fought for the Empire, and to do it not by breaking down the service but by providing that, everything considered, the man who has been fighting, who has done his bit, shall have preference. We are all imbued with the same spirit in this regard, and I know I can speak for gentlemen across the House as well as for those on this side, when I say that those who have made such great sacrifice for us are entitled to consideration, and while it would be fatal to them as to us to break down the service they will be placed first in the list.

Eliminate Waste.

In conclusion I want to say, Mr. Speaker, that the proper organization of the civil service means efficiency, and at this time, when practically the whole world has been organizing its man-power and its woman-power, doing everything it can to eliminate waste and put efficiency in its proper place, the demand for service growing out of that is going to be greater than ever before. It has been pointed out by two prominent Canadians in this city in the past few months that we must get the right man in the right place; that it is a foolish thing to allow the skilled blacksmith, say, whose services in his own trade are needed to win the war, to go off into the trenches and then have to fill his place in the smithy with an inferior man. To put the right man in the right place, and the right woman, too, is one of the objects of this bill.

We have learned the lesson, a valuable lesson, from the great struggle through which we are passing, that it is useless going along in a hap-hazard manner, sending a book-keeper to cruise timber or a man who knows nothing about civil engineering out to build a bridge. What we aim at is, first, to abolish the patronage evil, and secondly, organize the civil service so that every man or woman fits in where he or she is best fitted and can most thoroughly give the public the service for which it is paying. I commend this bill to the House, Mr. Speaker, in moving its second reading, and ask for it the very careful consideration of every member.

2,000,000 Belgians Depend on us for Bread!

Since shortly after the German invasion, the Belgians have depended for food entirely on the "Commission for Relief in Belgium". Their own store of food, even if not destroyed or pillaged, would last only three weeks—they have had no chance to raise more—and the ruthless Germans refuse to supply them!

Backed by the

so generously contributed in the British Empire and the United States, the neutral Belgian Relief Commission has imported enough wheat, flour and other foods to feed the whole nation so far. The great majority of the 7,000,000 Belgians left in the country have been able to pay for their daily allowance of bread—but a steadily growing number have no money left.

Unless we are willing to let these hundreds of thousands of women, children and old men starve, they must be fed at the expense of the Belgian Relief Fund. To make this possible someone must contribute nearly $3,000,000 a month—every month—all this winter!

No people under the Allied flag are as well able to contribute generously as we Canadians! No cause has ever been more deserving of help! In the name of Justice and Humanity—for the sake of our own self-respect—let us give all we can to help our martyred Allies!
