Felt Wretched Until He Started To Take "Fruit-a-lives"

504 CHAMPLAIN ST., MONTREAL.
"For two years, I was a miserable sufferer from Rheumatism and Stomach Trouble. I had frequent Dizzy Spells, and when I took food, felt wretched and sleepy. I suffered from Rheumatism dreadfully, with pains in my back and joints, and my hands swollen. A friend advised 'Fruit-a-lives' and from the outset, they did me good. After the first box, I felt I was getting well and I can truthfully say that 'Fruit-a-lives' is the only medicine that helped me." LOUIS LABRIE.

ADVERTISE IN THE DAILY NEWS

SCOTLAND IS A "CRADLE OF KULTUR"

"The English," writes a certain Dr. Georg Biedenkapp in the "Muenchner Neute Nachrichten," quoted by "The Times," "are always trying to drive a wedge of dissension between German races and classes. Let us take revenge by making it as widely known as possible how wrong are their claims to fame."

Dr. Biedenkapp's discovery is that when you examine any famous "Englishman" you find that he really comes from Scotland. He proposes for his purpose to search the whole intellectual field, and especially to examine the philosophers and discoverers, and then, he says, the Germans will be finally rid of the painful necessity of acknowledging any debt to the English, whom they are bound "to hate and despise."

Dr. Biedenkapp's first list consists of Byron (on the ground that he was of Scottish origin on his mother's side), David Hume, "to whom even Kant acknowledged a debt of gratitude," Watt, Stephen, Adam Smith, Black, Carlyle, Newton (on the ground that there is much evidence that he was of Scottish origin), Napier, and finally Robert Burns, "whose influence on German literature was considerable."

The achievements of Scotland are indeed such that Herr Biedenkapp gives her a place with Sumbria, Thuringia, and the Hartz Mountains as "a cradle of kultur and a fountain of first-class genius." As for England, he is convinced that when the proper arguments are used there will be very little left of her supposed glories.

FROM FAR AND NEAR

Mr. F. A. McKenzie, with the British Army in the field, has the following article in a recent issue of The London Daily Mail:
The German prisoner, in his muddy blue-gray uniform, with the fear of death scarce out of his eyes, was wolfishly devouring the regulation meal of "bully" and biscuits.

"Good," he said with a satisfied air when the last crumb had gone, "very good. We don't have food like that on our side."

Ontario is, since 1914, the largest gold producing province in Canada. The production for 1916 was 489,679 fine ounces, valued at $10,122,563, being 52.8 per cent of the total production for Canada and an increase of 20.4 per cent over the production of 1914.

Women are riveters in the new German ships; they are running railway trains, doing transport work, farming, making munitions, running half a hundred different kinds of war organizations, as well as looking after Germany's complicated system of social policy. There are parts of Germany, more particularly it would appear in the south, where you may go far afield without meeting any sign of a male unless it happens to be a gang of prisoners.

While fishing for spring salmon a day or two ago, one of the Canoe Pass fishermen caught in his net a sturgeon weighing 350 pounds. Several years ago this was not an infrequent occurrence, but lately these fish have become scarce. Though so very large, the meat of the fish is not coarse, but tender and sweet, and the fortunate fisherman found a ready market for his catch.

Bathe Internally

Over 50,000 People Are Now Doing So.

For many years physicians have agreed that the vast majority of human ills were caused by accumulated waste in the Lower Intestine; that in our present way of living Nature could not remove all this waste without assistance, no matter how regular we might be, and that the poisons from this waste circulating through the blood pulled us away down below par and were responsible for many diseases of a serious nature.

During this time the "J. B. L. Cascade" for Internal Bathing has, because of their recommendation and those of its users, been steadily growing in favor.

Recently, however, the startling news which has been covering this country, that great surgeons and specialists have been operating on the Lower Intestine for the most chronic and serious diseases, has caused Americans to become thoroughly awake to the importance of keeping this Lower Intestine free from all poisonous waste matter, and over 500,000 are now using Internal Baths.

If you try the "J. B. L. Cascade" you will find yourself always bright, confident and capable—the poisoned waste makes us bilious, blue, dull and nervous. Internal Baths are Nature's own cure for Constipation—just warm water properly applied. Drugs force Nature—the "J. B. L. Cascade" gently assists her.

Call and see it at Cyril H. Orme's, Drugist, Corner 3rd Ave. and 6th St., or ask there for "Why Man of Today is Only 50 per cent Efficient," a booklet of great interest, which is given free on request. If you prefer, write for Booklet to Dr. Chas. A. Tyrrell, 163 College Street, Toronto.

When a Man Marries

WHEN a man marries he quickly discovers his need of innumerable things he had never thought of before.

And the butcher, the baker and the cabinet maker have a new home to supply.

The new husband and wife must buy things to which they had previously given little thought.

A thousand marriages mean a thousand new homes.

Right here is a fact overlooked by many merchants.

They say, "How could it pay us to keep on repeating the story of our goods or service?"

If they could reach every possible customer with one advertisement—and if people didn't forget—there might be no object in "keeping everlastingly at it."

But because every possible customer does not read every advertisement, you must repeat.

And because these thousands of new homes are every day coming into existence, continuous advertising brings increased results.

Perhaps some people knew your goods or your store five or ten years ago. Since then new generations have come into existence.

The boy of to-day is the man who will sign the cheques to-morrow. To-day your advertisements are of small interest to him. To-morrow he is your customer, if you solicit his trade through advertising.

Every day thousands of people discover for the first time their need of your kind of goods.

Will you be there every day with your bid for their business?

Or will you leave the field to your competitors?

Advertising is the key that opens the door of these new homes to your goods.

Is Advertising on your key-ring?

Advice regarding your advertising problems is available through any good advertising agency or the Secretary of the Canadian Press Association, Room 503, Lumsden Building, Toronto. Enquiry involves no obligation on your part—so write if interested.
