WESTHOLME THEATRE

At the Westholme Theatre tonight there will be screened a wonderfully interesting photoplay entitled "Intrigue," in which Lenore Ulrich, the famous actress is the star. The play is one of very great interest, and it will hold the audience spellbound from start to finish. The title "Intrigue" is usually associated with matters political or social, and in this photoplay, the title is no exception to the rule. Lenore Ulrich is seen at her best, and she certainly justifies her reputation.

Mutt and Jeff are also with us again, and will be seen with interest. The musical programme is up to the usual standard.

Through an error, the price of admission was stated in the advertisement yesterday to be 15c instead of 25c, thus causing some misunderstanding, which is to be regretted. The added cost of certain films makes the increase in admission necessary.
