EAST SHIP HARBOR, N. S.
"It is with great pleasure that I write to tell you of the wonderful benefits I have received from taking 'Fruit-a-tives'. For years, I was a dreadful sufferer from Constipation and Headaches, and I was miserable in every way. Nothing in the way of medicines seemed to help me. Then I finally tried 'Fruit-a-tives' and the effect was splendid. After taking one box, I feel like a new person, to have relief from those sickening Headaches".

SHIPPING CONTROLLER AT THE ADMIRALTY

For two whole years after the war broke out, the Admiralty in London had held and guarded its own inefficient control of the merchant shipping requisitioned for transport purposes. Time and time again, the practical men of the Board of Trade who had the Government and Parliament behind them too, had tried to impinge upon the consciousness of the Admiralty the necessity for requisitioning the services of the best shipping men the nation possessed for such a tremendous and responsible work.

Transports.

As transport demands grew larger, the job became too big to be handled efficiently by the departmental heads of the Admiralty, with their official methods. It was realized that modern commercial methods, so long regarded as desirable, were now absolutely necessary, to be introduced into the Admiralty. So a shipping controller was appointed in the person of Sir Joseph Maclay.

A recent issue of the London Chronicle carries an article which tells somewhat of the man. When the appointment was made it was not proposed to deprive the Admiralty of transport arrangements, but whatever was proposed, they were in Sir Joseph's hands very soon.

Cuts Red Tape.

An individual personality and irresistible resolution to have his own wordless way, even against eloquent under-secretaries and voluminous Government departments were characteristic in him discovered in Whitehall but a few hours after his arrival.

Sir Joseph belongs to the firm of Maclay and McIntyre, of Glasgow, who even twenty years ago had the reputation of getting more work out of a ship than any other firm. The whole art of managing a ship consists in getting her discharged and out of port again without a moment's delay.

Economy of Time.

Since shortly after the German invasion, the Belgians have depended for food entirely on the "Commission for Relief in Belgium". Their own store of food, even if not destroyed or pillaged, would last only three weeks—they have had no chance to raise more—and the ruthless Germans refuse to supply them!

so generously contributed in the British Empire and the United States, the neutral Belgian Relief Commission has imported enough wheat, flour and other foods to feed the whole nation so far. The great majority of the 7,000,000 Belgians left in the country have been able to pay for their daily allowance of bread—but a steadily growing number have no money left.

Unless we are willing to let these hundreds of thousands of women, children and old men starve, they must be fed at the expense of the Belgian Relief Fund. To make this possible someone must contribute nearly $3,000,000 a month—every month—all this winter!
