THE HISTORY OF THE "SALVOR"

When the "Salvor" was in port the other day with the disabled "Prince Rupert," the fact that she was an old friend of Harbor Master McCroskrie came to light. For several years he was her captain and at that time she was called the S. S. Danube.

"During the time of the Klondike rush, I used to run her to Skagway," said Captain McCroskrie, "and I believe that she is one of the most wonderful old ships now afloat."

Built by Napier and Co., of Glasgow, now part of Glasgow, in 1869, the Salvor is now forty-eight years old, and yet she is a staunch vessel. She is of iron construction and her dimensions when first registered as the S. S. Danube were, length 215 feet, beam, 27 feet, 7 in., draught, 20 feet 7 in., gross tonnage, 887, registered tonnage, 561.

As the Danube she was the first vessel to pass through the Suez Canal, and she received one of the first pairs of fore and aft compound engines ever built, which are in her still. She was engaged in the Mediterranean and Eastern trade, and was considered one of the finest vessels then sailing. It was in her that the body of David Livingstone was brought home from Africa.

Then she was the first steamship chartered by the C. P. R. Co. to inaugurate their service between Vancouver and Hong Kong, preceding the Abyssinia and the Batavia. After that she was purchased by Captain John Irving for the Canadian Pacific Navigation Co., of Victoria, and under the command of Captain John Myers, took the commissioners of the sealing award to the Behring Sea.

On returning from this trip, she was engaged in the coastwise trade, running from Victoria to San Francisco, under the command of Captain McCroskrie, and later to the Naas. At the outbreak of the Klondike rush, she was transferred to the Victoria-Skagway run.

When purchased by her present owners, the British Columbia Salvage Company, Ltd., her name was changed to the Salvor and her hull reconstructed. "She is a fine model of a steamship, built on beautiful lines, and can ride out heavy seas like a duck," says Captain McCroskrie, "and barring accidents, she will be a staunch seagoing steamer for many years to come."

ARE BATHS NECESSARY?

This looks like a foolish question in this enlightened age, but there are nearly a million Americans who knew nothing of Internal Bathing a few years ago and are now eager to testify that they are fully as essential to health as External Baths. By a purely natural process of properly using warm water, the "J. B. L. Cascade" removes ALL the poisonous waste from the Lower Intestine, which physicians agree is the cause of 95 per cent of all human ailments.

It instantly relieves constipation, properly regulates the bowels and prevents all the dragging-down which Bilioussness and Liver Troubles always create.

E. W. Southall, M.D., of Genesee, N. Y., writes:—

"I challenged the doctors in this town last week in regard to what I can do with your 'Cascade'. I can say for a truth that I know the reason for my success with many serious illnesses was due to having the bowels washed out once and sometimes twice a day. I only wish I could make the people in general believe in the efficiency of a good bowel washing. Sincerely yours."

Cyril H. Orme, Druggist, corner 3rd Ave. and 6th street, Prince Rupert, has filled a tremendous demand for "J. B. L. Cascade" in the past few years, and will show and explain it to you on request. A free and interesting booklet on Internal Bathing, "Why Man of Today is Only 50 Per Cent. Efficient" can also be obtained for the asking. If you prefer, write to Dr. Chas. A. Tyrrell, 163 College street, Toronto, for same.

ADVERTISE IN THE DAILY NEWS

Making a Flat World Round

When Columbus set out to reach India by sailing westward, he met with opposition and ridicule.

He believed the earth to be round.

Wise men held that it was flat—that Columbus was mad—and that he'd fall off somewhere if he departed from established beliefs.

But Columbus' belief found him a continent and made him blessed of memory.

The Business World is flat to some men

Their profit-bearing shores of Opportunity stretch only so far as their grandfathers' trod. Custom, superstition and apathy have set them confines which they may not pass.

For instance, they believe the business year is a flat one—not an all-year round of trade, with East joining West, with Spring merging into Autumn—but just two distinct seasons, with sawed-off edges gaping into space.

They confine their activities to a Spring trade and to a Fall trade. To them there is no intervening continent with stores of waiting wealth. Their world is flat. They have not explored the mid-year months of Summer trade. June, July and August are never-never land.

Surely this conception of Summer as a "dull" season is as fallacious as the delusion that the earth was flat. People have just as much money in the hot weather and spend quite as freely as in Spring and Fall. Granted that they are not buying skates and snow shovels in August, yet they are buying staple articles. Furthermore, they have an eye on luxuries and comforts they are counting upon purchasing in the Fall.

The modern Columbus has discovered this Summer trade—this golden West lying between the known continents of old beliefs. Departing from established habit, many have made their energies and their Advertising an all-year-round proposition.

Keeping up Advertising during the Summer months not only links your Spring and Fall, but produces rich harvests from the Summer months themselves.

Advice regarding your advertising problem is available through any recognized Canadian advertising agency, or the Secretary of the Canadian Press Association, Room 503 Lumsden Building, Toronto. Enquiry involves no obligation on your part—so write, if interested.
