WESTHOLME THEATRE

There will be shown at the Westholme Theatre tonight a play of considerable interest, entitled "The Gilded Fool." The story is of a typical young waster, of good family and decent instincts, with too much money for his own good. He regards himself as a joke, and life as a laughing matter. He takes nothing seriously till at last the inevitable happens. He meets "the" girl. She is the daughter of a banker, a conservative of the old school, who regards this nut with contempt. However, his ambition is awakened, and he proves himself capable of steady application and to be a brisk business man.

In times of financial crises, by dint of his ability alone, he saves the day for the old banker, and, of course, there is the usual happy ending.

The staging of this play is a triumph. One scene is conspicuous. Rector's famous cabaret in New York, whose expensiveness keeps it exclusive, is transported bodily into this play. Gorks pop, eyes flash, diamonds glisten on white bosoms, and the Parisian toilettes typify the very smartest aspect of New York's millionaire night life. This too, is a real scene in the famous restaurant. Altogether, this play is in the front rank.

THE KILTIES MAGAZINE

The second issue of the "Breath O' The Heather," the regimental journal of the 236th Battalion—MacLean Kilties—has been received on the coast from Captain Percy F. Godenrath, the manager. The publication is now embellished with an attractive cover carrying the photograph of Hon. J. D. Hazen, Minister of Marine and Fisheries, who with Mrs. Hazen is to present the colors to the Kilties. There is also a supplement of Lieut-General Sir Sam Hughes, after whom the Kilties are named. The contents include a farewell article, as the battalion is shortly to leave for overseas; a chronological history; "Our Medalists" by Lieut. H. S. Everett; a capital short story, "The Autobiography of a Sand Bag," as well as a serial, "Two of a Kind" by C. S. M. I. D. Appleby. Besides several splendid illustrations, the contents include several pages of regimental humor. The publication is of interest locally as several well known British Columbians have joined the 236th, including Vancouver and Prince Rupert men.
