A PEAT INDUSTRY FOR CANADA.

Under the presidency of Dr. Eugene Haanel, director of mines for the Dominion Government, there has been started at Ottawa a society known as the Canadian Peat Society, having for its object the advancement of the peat industry in Canada. This is an important work for two national reasons. First, we are very much dependent for fuel on American sources; and, secondly, it would mean another and very profitable industry for Canada.

Three thousand six hundred pounds of machine peat is equal in heat-producing value to a ton of anthracite coal, and costs only $1.40 a ton to produce.

In 1909, Canada imported coal from the United States to the amount of nearly 10,000,000 tons, valued at $26,831,859. The development of some of our extensive peat bogs will help to keep some of this money at home and to furnish additional employment to Canadians in Canada.

Canada has 37,000 square miles (23,680,000 acres) of known peat bogs, but these form probably but a small fraction of the total, constituting a potential national asset of enormous value.

Some idea of the possibilities may be gained from the estimate that 28 acres of peat 9 feet deep should yield 50,000 tons; enough to supply 100 families for 25 years, allowing 20 tons per family, or enough to furnish a power plant of 100 horsepower using steam engines with fuel for more than 25 years of 300 ten-hour day, allowing 12 pounds of fuel per horsepower hour developed. The fuel, if used in a suitable gas producer would last the same plant about 100 years.

Four bogs within a few miles of Ottawa, examined by Government experts, are estimated to contain over 25,000,000 tons of fuel.

To re-establish confidence in the value of peat as a domestic and industrial fuel, and to stimulate development of our peat resources, the Government has acquired 300 acres of peat bog at Alfred, Ont., for the purpose of manufacturing peat fuel on a commercial scale by a method which has proved successful in Europe.

The capacity of the plant is 30 tons per day, and during part of the past summer 1,600 tons of machine peat were produced. Allowing 140 days for a season's operations, the cost of the fuel on the field is $1.40 per ton, under conditions existing at the government plant. By the use of larger plant and using mechanical excavators to replace hand labor this cost of production can be greatly reduced.

In their work of turning the barren wastes into profitable fields of labor, the Canadian Peat Society is doing a truly patriotic work.

MR. REAL ESTATE MAN

CAN YOU TAKE A HINT?

The following is a sample of a kind of letter The Daily News frequently receives. This one is from a man in Alberta

Dear Mr. Editor:

Me and some friends of mine would like to buy a few city lots in Prince Rupert, but we don't know anyone at present in Prince Rupert, so we have written to ask if you would be kind enough to send me on your daily paper, as I am told it advertises the most city lots and property for sale in Prince Rupert, for which I send you on some stamps. Hoping you will oblige us, and apologizing for the trouble.

Yours respectfully,

THE DAILY NEWS has the biggest circulation of any paper in the district. It is all bona fide circulation too. It enters the homes of real estate investors in every leading city in Canada as well as England and the United States.

Do You Catch the Hint?

A NEW ARRIVAL'S GOOD IMPRESSIONS UP-RIVER

MR. FREDERICK LONG, ON A BUSINESS TRIP FOR THE DAILY NEWS, IS SO STRUCK WITH THE DEVELOPMENT UP THE SKEENA THAT HE HAS WRITTEN HIS EXPERIENCES TO BOOST THE DISTRICT.

Mr. Frederick Long, whose lively presence as solicitor for The Daily News circulation and job printing departments has made itself felt in the city, recently took a trip up river in the interests of the paper and was so impressed by his experiences that he has written them in his own downright way "to boost along the Skeena Valley." Here is the story in Mr. Long's own words:

"I got on the train at Rupert with exchange sandhogs, bridge-men and railroaders. There are always three crews coming and going working up river. I passed through some of the most beautiful scenery it has ever been my luck to see—sun shining on trees and mountain tops everywhere. My first stop was made at Terrace, a thriving townsite rapidly becoming the distributing point of the Lakelse and Kitsumkalam valleys. Here is a fine store of George Little's and a model hotel of 30 rooms owned by J. K. Gordon of Klondyke. Everybody is enthusiastic about their reward for labor here resulting in strawberries, tomatoes and potatoes grown on their truck farms. A fine frame building is being constructed and leased by J. Hicky to Dr. Traynor, who finds that things are such that his practice must be removed to Terrace. I was asked if a deserving couple would start a laundry there. The support is absolutely guaranteed. Mr. Gordon gave a New Year's dinner here to the ranchers and their families and myself. I seem to smell the nifty chicken and mince pies yet.

"On Sunday night I walked to Kalum and saw Mrs. Ross and family and Mrs. Ely and Bruce, all looking very well and optimistic. I heard true stories of wonderful development in tomatoes and potatoes and was shown a photo of a vine of pea higher than Mrs. Ross, who appeared in the picture. New Year's morning a shoot for chickens was held. In the evening a dance at the hotel. Many families from the valley came and had a good time. I may add that this is the tenth dance since November 1, 1911. That's going some, eh? Walked back to Terrace and then across the ice to Copper City, where Mr. Skinner has a well-equipped store and Joe Creech an hotel. From there I recessed and bunked at Newtown in the bunkhouse. The Indians here are all happy and well and good attenders at church. Service is conducted by Louis Edgar and William Deans, supported by the Methodist Church and the loyalty of the Indians.

I walked from Van Arsdol camp house, the present end of steel, through the tunnel and crossed the Skeena on a dogsleigh. Did you ever have such a thrilling ride across a sheet of ice? I got to Kitselas and found a small city there. The Big Canyon Hotel, pool rooms, rests, offices, etc., and an hospital for the care principally of railroad men, at the head of which is Dr. Traynor, an efficient, hard worker, who has crude conditions to contend with. "All this enterprise exists because of the construction of the transcontinental railroad. I would say in conclusion that there is a movement among the ranchers and business men to form a publicity club to tell outsiders of the wonderful resources of the valleys of the upper Skeena, which this story just briefly touches on."
