

THE CHIEF CHARM OF LOVELY WOMAN

Soft, Clear, Smooth Skin Comes With The Use Of "FRUIT-A-TIVES".

NORAH WATSON
86 Drayton Ave., Toronto.
Nov. 10th, 1915.

A beautiful complexion is a handsome woman's chief glory and the envy of her less fortunate rivals. Yet a soft, clear skin—glowing with health—is only the natural result of pure blood.

"I was troubled for a considerable time with a very unpleasant, disfiguring Rash, which covered my face and for which I used applications and remedies without relief. After using 'Fruit-a-tives' for one week, the rash is completely gone. I am deeply thankful for the relief and in the future, I will not be without 'Fruit-a-tives'."

Coughing scatters germs—Stop it

Coughing increases the irritation of the already inflamed mucous membranes and is moreover apt to carry disease to others. Mathieu's Syrup of Tar and Cod Liver Oil promptly stops coughing, and soon, thanks to its tonic properties, effects a permanent cure. The wonderful popularity of Mathieu's Syrup of Tar and Cod Liver Oil is especially due to its great value as a permanent lung and bronchial healer. Sold everywhere, 35c large bottles.

J. L. MATHIEU CO., Prop., Sherbrooke, P.Q.

For instructions on Mathieu's Syrup of Tar and Cod Liver Oil, send any card to the Proprietor, J. L. Mathieu Co., Sherbrooke, P.Q., and you will receive a copy of the book "The 500 of 40 wonders."

WHERE MEALS CAN BE HAD FOR THREE PENCE APIECE

Two thousand meals a day are being served in a little unpretentious shop off Blackfriars' Road, London, England. Hundreds of war workers are here daily fed with soup, eels, and wholesome meat pies at three pence (six cents) per meal.

GOVERNMENT WANTS

ANOTHER EXTENSION

petents, dope fiends and party hacks. The Canadian end is not much better in some places. A court martial has just investigated transactions at the base hospital in Toronto in which non-commissioned officers are said to have looted thousands of dollars worth of supplies. For this stupid blundering the hospital commandant, or whatever they call him, has been relieved of his job and transferred to an ornamental position where his fatheadedness can do no more harm.

The next of the first fruits is the recruiting muddle, the appointment of a non-partisan National Service Commission with eleven out of twelve Tory recruiting directors, the resignation of the chairman, Sir Thomas Tait, when he found that there wasn't enough non-partisanship to permit him to choose his own secretary, the selection of R. B. Bennett, as chairman—R. B. is so non-partisan that he thinks of God as a Tory—and the famous attempt to hand Sir Wilfrid Laurier a lemon, that is to say to hand him a full share of the blame while holding out on the glory, to which he was not entitled because up to that moment Sir Sam and his humble and inferior associates of the cabinet had conducted it as exclusively a Tory war. Whereat, as Mark Twain says, Yey all laughed except ye ladye Alice Dillbury, yat silly old thing.

These are the first fruits of the present extension and it rests with the people of Canada to say whether the Borden government ought to get another to do the same things with. There isn't much chance that they will do any better. You can't teach a six-year-old dog new tricks—even if you do extend him another twelve months. It goes without saying that the government doesn't want that other year to repent in—it has more pressing matters than repentance to get busy about.

There is no doubt in my mind that Mr. Kemp's horror was genuine enough. The trouble, as I said before, is that he wasn't at liberty to reveal the true object. Still, everybody knew it. So why dissemble? What Mr. Kemp was horrified at was not the prospect of a general election, but the prospect of what it would do to the Borden government. His horror was no doubt intensified by the thought of what general elections had done to Conservative governments in Manitoba and British Columbia. Mr. Kemp's horror and that of his colleagues is horror at the abyss into which they are due to plunge.

The people of Canada do not feel horror now at the prospect of a federal election such as they felt in 1914 or again in 1915, when the Germans still had the edge on the Allies and victory was none too certain. Now that our ultimate triumph is assured, Canada turns with a lighter heart to its troubles at home and the chief trouble there, she finds, is the Borden government. What Canada will do to the Borden government when she gets the chance will be horrible enough, but that is no reason why Mr. Kemp should try to blame it on the Grits. Everybody wants to get at the Borden government—it doesn't seem to be a party question at all. In one sense it won't be an election, it will be a capital punishment. Instead of lingering on for a year from October, 1917, the Borden government ought to take the first chance to drop out with as little fuss as possible. The sooner it's over the sooner to sleep. No flowers.—H. F. G.

LUMBERMEN WANTED

The British army requires lumber just as much as it requires munitions and there are many men in Canada who can do their share for the Empire by enlisting in the Forestry Battalions. Sergt. Stokes is at the Red Cross rooms recruiting for a new Forestry Battalion and blacksmiths, teamsters, chaffeurs, sawyers, filers, edgemen, fellers, laborers and anyone having a knowledge of lumbering will be welcomed to the ranks. tf.

LIQUOR ACT, 1910.

(Section 42.) NOTICE is hereby given that, on the first day of December next, application will be made to the Superintendent of Provincial Police for renewal of the hotel licence to sell liquor by retail in the hotel known as the Northern Hotel, situate at Port Simpson, in the Province of British Columbia. Dated this 7th day of October, 1916. ERNEST WOOD RICHARDS, Applicant.

2,000,000
Belgians
Depend on us for Bread!

Since shortly after the German invasion, the Belgians have depended for food entirely on the "Commission for Relief in Belgium". Their own store of food, even if not destroyed or pillaged, would last only three weeks—they have had no chance to raise more—and the ruthless Germans refuse to supply them!

Backed by the

so generously contributed in the British Empire and the United States, the neutral Belgian Relief Commission has imported enough wheat, flour and other foods to feed the whole nation so far. The great majority of the 7,000,000 Belgians left in the country have been able to pay for their daily allowance of bread—but a steadily growing number have no money left.

Unless we are willing to let these hundreds of thousands of women, children and old men starve, they must be fed at the expense of the Belgian Relief Fund. To make this possible someone must contribute nearly $3,000,000 a month—every month—all this winter!

No people under the Allied flag are as well able to contribute generously as we Canadians! No cause has ever been more deserving of help! In the name of Justice and Humanity—for the sake of our own self-respect—let us give all we can to help our martyred Allies!

Send your contributions weekly, monthly or in one lump sum to Local or Provincial Committees, or to the

The Poor Man's University

"JONES knows more about motor cars than any other man I know," said a man to his friend. "He has obtained his knowledge chiefly from motor car advertisements, and the catalogues and booklets circulated through them."

"All I know about photography," declared a well-known amateur, "I have learned from the men who advertise cameras, plates, papers and films."

Advertisements have been well called "The Poor Man's University," but other than poor men have been schooled thereby.

Much of what the average individual knows concerning personal and domestic hygiene, modern office methods, books and authors, electricity, precious stones, investments, and almost everything else, he has learned from advertisements.

Advertisements have stimulated our intelligence, added enormously to our knowledge, and given us aspirations which have raised us to higher levels of thinking and living. Advertising is indeed "The Poor Man's University."

If you are doing a local business talk over your advertising problems with the Advertising Department of this newspaper. If you are doing a provincial or national business it would be well for you to have the counsel and assistance of a good advertising agency. A list of these will be furnished, without cost or obligation, by the Secretary of Canadian Press Association, Room 503, Lumsden Building, Toronto.
