THE TARIFF DEBATE

Sir Thomas White's reply to Hon, Frank Oliver's proposal for a sweeping revision of the tariff in regard to foodstuffs, farm implements and other necessary materials was, in a few words, that as the tarifi was the Government's main revenue producer it could not be radically reduced.

Tariff for revenue, however, is not and never was the fiscal creed of the Minister or the Government of which he is a profit and manufacturer's super-profit.

The Canadian tariff is devised for the benefit mainly of the privileged interests east of the Great Lakes, because that is the centre of political power. It is a monstrous obstacle to the fullest and best develop-! ment of the great producing areas of the Canadian West. It taxes the materials which enter into production while at
