Tasty and Not so Heavy as Meat

Beat together 1 cup of bread crumbs, 1 cup grated cheese, ½ cup water, 1 egg; add a little red pepper and salt; put into a greased dish; brush the top with butter and bake half an hour. This is surprisingly good and is not so heavy as meat. Try it. It is, as you see, quite simple.

TRUNKS BATTLE TO DRAW WITH TRAIL PLAYERS

Was One of Season's Brilliant Games—Score 1-1.

In one of the league's most brilliant football games, the Trail Club and the Grand Trunks battled to a 1-1 draw on Acropolis hill grounds last evening. The game throughout was a very interesting one from the point of view of the spectator as both teams worked hard to gain the goals. At half time the score stood 1 to 0 in favor of the Grand Trunk. The Trail supporters thought that the red shirts with the down hill advantage would be able to score easily after the splendid defence whilst those backing the blues were of the opinion that the lead could be easily increased. Only Cummings' individual goal scored in the last half.

At the opening whistle the Trail boys started off with but ten men on the field. Soon "Bookie" Lucas appeared on the cinders and was placed as right back. He did not show up well in the opening play and after a few minutes the referee gave a penalty against the Trails on a body charge from Bookie. This was easily converted by Harry Bennett. With the odds against them the Trail boys ranged up the field and their forward line pressed hard for goals. They could not make the grade and the forces were called off at the whistle with a single penalty goal in favor of their opponents.

Both teams were off at the jump with the opening whistle after changing ends. This time goalie Jack Judge did not have so much to do as in the first half, and Waldorf was keeping out many dangerous shots from the Trail forward line bombardment. Finally Cummings took the leather by himself and after slipping by both backs had the goalkeeper at his mercy. Waldorf came out but the Trail centre netted a fine tally. Following the evening up of the score the rivals battled hard and the Trails pressed continually against the railroaders' defence. Neither was able to register and so the game ended 1 to 1.

The line-ups were as follows:

Grand Trunks — Waldorf; Ed. Ross and Drummond; Craggs, Bennett and O'Donnell; Shanks, Main, J. Campbell, Harding and Ed. Smith.

Trail Club—Judge; Dewiese and Mentie; Lewis, Ed. Craggs and Anderson; Conlin, Stone, Cummings, Greenwell and Hardy.

J. McCulloch refereed and the linesmen were Clapperton and Tabrum.

BANNERS FOR THE MINISTERS

Ministers Will be Apprised of the City's Needs by Street Streamers.

When Hon. J. D. Reid and D. B. Hanna reach town tomorrow night they are to be greeted with streamers along the city streets bearing such mottos as "we want more cars," etc. These streamers are to be of canvas and will have such statements on either side. They will be preserved carefully and as each cabinet minister and the leader of the opposition come here this summer they will be hoisted.

These signs will cost $150 and the City Council will pay for them at the instigation of a committee from the Board of Trade. Alderman McLennan was successful in getting the grant at last night's council meeting but Ald. Casey demanded that the city council have a committee to see these men when they come to town and the mayor named the committee to consist of Aldermen Dybhavn and McLennan besides himself ex officio. Ald. McLennan also proposed having a half holiday on the day of the arrival but this was not incorporated in the motion.

"It seems strange to me," said the mayor, "that these men can deal with all the important questions coming up here in the course of a brief day's visit. Steps should be taken to have them stay over for it is important that they see something of conditions here. In the smallest place along the line there is a station and here, at the terminus, there is not even a shed to keep the water off the heads of those arriving. The present agreement with the company calls for buildings but there are no buildings. This is no time for any more promises. The city is preparing a manifesto for them."

MARGUERITE CLARK IS THE SAME AS EVER

In "Widow by Proxy" She Has Everybody's Sympathy All the Time.

Everyone who went to last night's show at the Westholme Theatre agreed that little Marguerite Clark is just as winsome and just as pretty as ever she was. Almost every body admires Marguerite and there certainly were plenty of her admirers at the show last night. Tonight she appears again and it is certain that everyone who could not or did not go last night will be there then.

In her present play, "Widow by Proxy," little Miss Clark has an excellent vehicle for her ever popular style. As a music mistress she has become attached to the widow of Jack Pennington, a member of a wealthy Boston family, who on supposedly being killed at the front leaves his widow penniless and sick. Marguerite comes to the aid but between them they find expenses steadily surmounting income until they become almost "financially defunct."

One day Mrs. Pennington receives a notice from the family attorney asking her to turn up at the family home for an adjustment of the will. She refuses to go, afraid that she may be insulted by the haughty relatives and Marguerite acts "widow by proxy" and takes her place. The things that happen and the way the adventure ends up is the interesting part of the play.

HUNTERS WERE ON WAY NORTH

J. L. McIver and his Brother with Party from East were Aboard Princess Mary

Yesterday a party of big game hunters passed through the city on board the Princess Mary for the Yukon, where they will spend three months in the wilds. Two of them were J. L. McIver and Angus McIver, who are both well known by D. H. Morrison of this city, as they lived next door to him for a number of years while in the east.

The four men have just come from Arizona and Los Angeles and apart from feeling the cold are quite delighted with the trip. It is their first excursion into the north and they are looking forward to many thrills and new experiences. Their chief object is to down the moose, elk, caribou that may happen to stray their way.

On the way back south it is just possible that they will stop off at Prince Rupert for a few weeks and take a run up the Skeena River for the hunting. They are anxious to get a good look at some of the grizzlies that are reported to grow so large in this part of the country.
