As a small mark of the esteem in which the fellow employees of the Grand Trunk Pacific held Mr. J. B. F. Melville, they gathered together yesterday afternoon and presented him with a purse of gold. Mr. Melville has been in the city for the past seven years, and his genial presence won for him as a friend everyone who came in contact with him. Mr. Melville is leaving today for New York, where he has received a good appointment.

Mr. W. C. C. Mehan made the presentation of the token of the regard in which his chief clerk was held and had difficulty in adequately expressing his sense of loss at the departure of "Jim." They had been together for the past nine years in close daily intimacy.

Jim Melville will carry with him to New York the best wishes of his friends here, and these friends will long carry with them the remembrance of a kindly Scot.

It was intimated at the meeting of the city council held last night that a new bylaw will shortly be introduced by the city solicitor for the regulation of rooming houses, boarding houses and lodging houses. WESTHOLME THEATRE

At the Westholme Theatre tonight, there will be shown the first of the "Metro" productions ever shown in this city. These are among the most famous of all film productions, and this film was made under the direction of the great Edwin Carewe. He is the most unique genius in screen production, because he always does the unusual. The story of the play is strong and tremendously tense, and gripping. But Mabel Talliaferro, the star actress, is the best of all. Her personal charm, her genuine dramatic talent, and her rapidly growing popularity are placing her at the top of the list of great motion picture actresses. She is a young actress of distinction, charm, and a personality that wins favor with the women as well as with the men. Altogether, the play tonight promises to be one of outstanding merit, and which will well be worth seeing. To balance the programme, there will be a comedy shown also.

Mrs. Gerscheitz, daughter of Mr. W. Goldbloom, arrived from the East on last night's train from Edmonton. She was accompanied by the little niece of Mr. Gerscheitz, who made the trip all the way from Winnipeg.
