FOOD CONTROLLER HAS WIDE POWERS

London, July 5.—The Official Gazette publishes an order-in-council conferring upon Baron Rhondda, the food controller, identical powers under the Defence of the Realm Act with those already possessed by the admiralty and army council and the ministry of munitions for requisitioning supplies and controlling prices. Baron Rhondda will now be able to requisition the whole or part of the output of any factory, paying prices therefor based on the cost of production, with the addition of a pro-war rate of profit, regardless of the prices ruling in the open market.

While we should not be too optimistic regarding the food situation, for we can not tell what the morrow will bring forth, there is no fear at present that the Germans will force England to start compulsory rationing," said Baron Rhondda yesterday. Baron Rhondda added that the voluntary rationing system was working admirably and the crops of the country were doing well.

BRITISH ARTILLERY HELP THE ITALIANS

Milan.—Now that the presence of ten British batteries on the Italian front has been officially announced, the reception extended to the gunners when they passed through here need no longer be kept secret. The scene was one of wild enthusiasm, which recalled to old people the thrilling entry of the French after the campaign of 1859 against the Austrians which liberated Lombardy. The whole population turned out to welcome and honor the military representatives of Italy's ally. The officers and the gun carriages had flowers thrown on them, while the gunners were presented with cigars, cigarettes, post-cards, and other gifts. Many of the crowd endeavored to express their feelings in broken English, while all showed by their gestures and enthusiasm that fraternal spirit with which they were animated. The streets were decorated with British flags, and the crowd cheered the British troops with cries of "Long Live Great Britain! Welcome to our Allies!"
