

The Tide is Low

The price of Prince Rupert real estate has reached its lowest mark, but this house and lot must be sold. Prices, like the tide, are never stationary. They have been falling for three years. They have now reached slack water. Soon they will commence to rise. Therefore,

THIS IS THE TIME TO BUY that residence that you have been intending to buy before prices advanced. We have it for sale, and at extreme low tide price, too. Ask us about it.

WESTHOLME THEATRE

Tonight there will be shown that great old stage favorite, East Lynne, at the Westholme Theatre. This is one of the plays that seems perennial. Although many years since its first production, it can command huge audiences wherever it is staged. This old drama of English country life loses nothing of its charm in the pictures. All the dramatic and literary force of the play is retained and the scope of the story is increased along lines only possible in moving pictures. Theda Bara, the great actress, is the star. She is an actress to her finger tips, and all those who have seen her, previously, will want to see her enact her part of the vampire in this play.

A Gazette and a comedy are also included in the programme.

Anniversary Sale ends to-morrow night—Wallace's.

Yesterday, the Presbyterian Church held its annual picnic to the Quarantine Hospital, Digby Island. An early start was made in the afternoon and the whole time over there was spent in rollicking and amusement for both young and old. There was racing for all ages and such competitions as throwing the stone were indulged in by the boys. An extremely large crowd turned up at the boat-house and two or three launches were necessary in order to bring all over and many thanks are owing to those gentlemen who were good enough to give their boats for the occasion. A special trip was made about half-past five for the business men and others who were unable to come over in the afternoon. Nearly everyone returned between nine and ten, all satisfied to be home after such a strenuous day.
