THE FISHERIES COMMISSION

salmon in District No. 2 for their own purposes, and at their own price. It, however, must be apparent to the citizens of Prince Rupert generally that the salmon industry should be on the same basis as the logging industry or the mining industry. The raw materials belong to the country and there should be no restrictions imposed other than such as are necessary to keep up the supply of raw material. It is not a democratic principle to preclude any person from engaging in any proper industry. There should be no attached licences granted to canneries. There should be no limit on the number of canneries. Any British subject wishing to fish in British waters should be entitled to do so subject to such regulations as may be passed by an efficient fisheries administration for the purpose of seeing that the fish are not depleted, and men should be entitled in these waters to use motor boats, as many of these people have homes and ranches on Porcher Island and elsewhere and can go and come from their homes to the fishing grounds in these boats, and can deliver their catches to the cannery paying the highest price.

I believe the citizens of Prince Rupert and the independent fishermen will not tamely permit these rights to be denied them and now is the time to safeguard what you have secured for I have tried to make plain to you that the cannery interests are seeking to hog this plum. If you want them to have it, just keep sitting on the fence. A good man is always ready to fight for his rights; for that is the way our liberties were won.

Yours truly,

W. E. WILLIAMS.

Holby in the "Izzy" contributed their services and the boats free. The fares collected amounted to the sum named, which goes to help the Red Cross.

Supt. F. W. Dowling, of the Government Telegraphs, returned to the city yesterday after a trip of inspection to Hazelton.
