STEWARDSHIP — NOT OWNERSHIP!

That Public opinion in Canada is agitated by the disclosures in relation to war profiteering is not to be wondered at, having regard to the times in which we live and to all the issues involved. The refusal of the public to look at profiteering from the point of view of Sir Joseph Flavelle brings into sharp conflict opposing standards of conduct which are wholly irreconcilable. As Sir Joseph Flavelle is a public man who has set a high standard of conduct for others, it is not unreasonable that his individual standpoint should be critically examined in the light of the awakened conscience of the world. He represents the spirit of modern commercialism, which is in a transition stage, and which is out of harmony with the spirit of these war times. That he is able to square his actions with his own sense of what is right and just and honorable does not debar the public from joining issue with him in a matter that so profoundly affects the moral outlook of this country in days when conflicting ideals are tested in the fiery crucible of military strife.

The points in dispute between Sir Joseph Flavelle and the public relate primarily to the facts of the case as brought out in the investigation before the Cold-Storage Commission. It is contended by the President of the William Davies Company that the profits were made in open competition. This is the turning point in the case. Was the bacon sold in open competition? The facts brought out in evidence show that the purchasing agents for the British Government were William Denny & Company, and that through their relations with these agents the Davies Company gradually acquired privileges which were denied to other firms anxious to do business with the War Office. It is seriously contended by Sir Joseph Flavelle that these exceptional advantages over all their competitors, which the William Davies Company enjoyed in their dealings with the British War Office through the purchasing agents, can by any stretch of imagination be regarded as open competition?

Sir Joseph Flavelle, in his dealings with munitions contractors has fearlessly and resolutely set his face against the munitions profiteer, claiming, and rightly so, that the abnormal profits that were made before he took over control, and which were pocketed by a few individuals, should, in the peculiar circumstances of these tragic days, be eliminated in the interest of the British people, who with such splendid fortitude are bearing the burdens of an unparalleled war. It was given to Sir Joseph Flavelle to interpret the business relations between his own firm and the British War Office in the spirit in which he interpreted the relations between the munitions contractors and the Imperial Munitions Board at Ottawa, representing the British Government. In both cases open competition was eliminated. But while this was of advantage to the British nation in the case of munitions, the advantage went to the William Davies Company in the case of bacon exports. The failure of Sir Joseph Flavelle to apply to his own firm the higher ethics of war contracts which he imposed upon munitions manufacturers is not lessened in gravity by his inability, in his own case, to distinguish between the commercial traditions of pre-war days and the moral obligations of disinterested patriotism at a time when men are cheerfully surrendering their lives in the outer defences of civilization.

Stewardship, not ownership! This is the insistent call of War to the men of trade and commerce and Big Interests as the portals of a new era open before the gaze of a suffering and a reborn world. Ten years ago the Bishop of London stood before the "bulls" and "bears" and bankers of New York at Trinity Church, Wall Street. "To you all," was his ringing challenge to the New World—"to you all, whether you be financial king or pauper, I send out this message: 'Give an account of your stewardship!' Stewardship, not ownership! This is the keynote William Davies Company enjoyed of the new commercial dispensation.—Globe.

REAL FOOD CONTROL IN GREAT BRITAIN

London, Oct. 30.—Right Hon. G. N. Barnes, member of the British war cabinet, has issued a statement by the food ministry on steps taken to meet the food shortage and to limit the profits on food. He points out all the principal foodstuffs are now under control, namely, bread, flour, meat, potatoes, sugar, milk, cheese, bacon, jam, oatmeal, peas, beans, chocolate and feeding stuffs for livestock. Regarding profits and prices which have been or are being fixed, he mentions every stage of production and distribution of controlled commodities from the stockyard or barnyard to the shop counter.

Mr. Barnes says the speculative middleman has been eliminated, and the charges that may be made by the necessary middlemen are being defined and regulated by fixing prices or profits.

CLEANSE THE LARGE INTESTINE

Present War Cry of Advanced Physicians.

Some of the leading surgeons of the world have gone so far recently as to remove part of the Large Intestine in cases so serious as that of Tuberculosis and restored the patient to perfect health by so doing.

The New York American has recently said:

"During Constipation the poisons in the Large Intestine often become so great as to form a serious menace to health and even to life. Through the walls of the Intestine they enter the blood and consume the healthy blood cells, impoverishing the blood, and if this process is continued long enough an acute poisoning is produced."

It is impossible under our present-day mode of living for the Intestine to rid itself of all waste, and it is easily proven that there is an accumulation, no matter how regular we are.

Drugs, if taken regularly, form a habit, but Internal Bathing by means of the "J. B. L. Cascade" cleanses the Lower Intestine its entire length with pure warm water and makes it clean, sweet and healthy.

At the same time it regulates the system and makes one feel that every function is working smoothly and naturally—and, indeed, this is so.

This letter will convey a message of good cheer to many:

Welland, Ontario.

Dr. Chas. A. Tyrrell.

163 College Street, Toronto, Ont.: Dear Sir,—We heartily endorse the J. B. L. Cascade, as we find in our work that a loaded colon means a poisoned system, which, in turn, means ligamentous contraction of the spinal muscles, against which our work is directed.

Anything helping us in gaining relaxation we consider a boon, both to ourselves and our patients.

Most sincerely,

Drs. Hoxley and Garland. Over five hundred thousand are now enthusiastic users of the "J. B. L. Cascade," which is now being shown and explained at Cyril H. Orme's Drug Store, cor. 3rd Avenue and 6th St., Prince Rupert.

Ask or write now, while you think of it, to Chas. A. Tyrrell, M.D., 163 College Street, Toronto, for free and interesting booklet, "Why Man of Today is Only 50 Per Cent. Efficient."
