SERVICE

The chief thing which has been demanded of the people throughout the British Empire in the fight for democracy against autocracy, for freedom against bondage, in this time of war against the Hun, is Service, to the cause of the Empire and to the cause of Democracy. And if the spirit of Democracy is worth fighting for in the fields of Flanders and in all the other parts of the world where the allied troops are combatting the enemy, it is that which should at all times actuate the peoples who are fighting for it.

Service was the foundation of the address which Sir Wilfrid Laurier made to his compatriots in the ancient city of Quebec the other day. "I stand for voluntary service," said Sir Wilfrid, "but I stand for service." That was the dominant note in his appeal. In insisting upon the necessity for service, there are none who will disagree with the veteran statesman. As the champion of democracy, and democratic methods, on the other hand, there are many in Canada whose democratic spirit and love of freedom pales before that of Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

The essence of the spirit of Democracy is to be found in the words given to us many, many years ago, to love thy neighbor as thyself: to render to others that service we would have them render to us.

In a democratic country, as Canada is said to be, it would not be too much to expect to find a government actuated by the same motives. A small gang of men would not be permitted to go on robbing the people on every life they eat as has been going on in Canada especially since the war began. Yet democratic Canada has a Government which looks on and permits these men to serve themselves at the expense of the whole community. And the biggest profiteer of the whole lot, the same government permits to retain high office. Like Sir Wilfrid, these men believe in service, but not to their fellow citizens, nor yet to the Empire primarily, but in the first place for their own private ends.

The application of the principle of conscription, once it had been decided upon could more forcibly and with better reason have been applied where in the interests of the people, it is still required, and that is to the excess profits which men like Sir Joseph Flavelle have been permitted to take from the people. Their robbery is legalized, but morally the fact remains that it is robbery just the same. Sir Robert Borden can come before the people of Canada at this time and tell them that he has protected their interests in this direction, by appointing a food controller, who would look after such things.

The chief thing that has been apparent to the people is that the food controller advised them to eat less. That was his idea of control. He has issued many recipes for cheap dishes, but he has so far as can be seen taken no action in the service of the people to bring down the prices of many commodities, which at the present time, many people have only a recollection of. That is only one of the ways in which Sir Robert Borden thinks a government should serve the people. Sir Robert demands service, but gives none. His service is reserved for the elect, the financial magnates, his own particular friends in Toronto.

Service is a thing which the people of Canada must get as well as give. Service above all things is that which a popular government is elected to give to the people.

The question which the electorate will have to decide within the next few weeks is whether they regard the service given by Sir Robert Borden and his government to the country during the past six years, as satisfactory.

That it is not satisfactory to the majority of the people is evidenced every day, and the Prince Rupert people especially have less than nothing to thank him for.

MAGIC BAKING POWDER

IN THE LETTER BOX

To the Editor, The Daily News,
Sir—For three weeks now the matter of Cow Bay has been discussed by the City Council at its Monday evening meetings. It is no doubt true that a tentative proposition has been made for the closing of Cow Bay, and that the railway will spare no effort or expense to obtain possession of this very valuable piece of property.

Let us therefore consider pro and con the benefits of the suggested change.

Remember that the fishing industry—our only industry—is still in its infancy. But there are now over four hundred small fishing craft, most of them making Cow Bay their home port. Of these four hundred fishing boats some carry ten men, some eight, some six and many only three. To make the most conservative estimate possible let us suppose the whole of them carried only three men each. Food at $1 per day per man for 400 boats, reckoning 30 days per month, means $132,000 spent every year in the groceries and butcher shops. Necessary replenishing of gear and incident-tails to the running of the boat say $1 per day, spells $144,000 annually for the trade of the hardware merchants. Oil for fuel can be put down at $4 per day at least, and this item says $576,000 for the year, thus passing over the million mark to $1,152,000 as the annual trade revenue from the fishing industry now centred in Cow Bay.

Wake up, Mr. Merchant, and frankly say whether you really do want Cow Bay to be filled up.

There are other merchants—every store in town in fact—but to appeal to these no such startling statistics can be produced. You citizens can judge for yourselves about what each one of these four hundred will probably spend on himself when he goes down town, and remember they are THE Four Hundred so far as earning capacity during the fishing season is concerned. He has his down town Sunday-best to buy, his sweaters and sea boots and rain clothes, his tobacco and other personal luxuries. If married he has his family and his home to keep up, and you know how money rapidly rattles into the storekeeper's till in that way.

All you storekeepers will be wide awake when the question is seriously put to close Cow Bay. So of course you will have all these directly interested against the closing of Cow Bay. How are the great bulk of the voters who select the mayor and aldermen benefited by Cow Bay? In every way. The larger the stock a merchant is able to carry the

BE CLEAN INTERNALLY

Over 500,000 People Are Now Doing So.

For many years physicians have agreed that 95 per cent. of human ills was caused by accumulated waste in the Lower Intestine; that in our present way of living Nature could not remove all this waste without assistance, no matter how regular we might be; and that the poisons from this waste circulated through the blood pulled us away down below par and were responsible for many diseases of a serious nature.

During this time the "J. B. L. Cascade" for Internal Bathing has, because of their recommendation and those of its users, been steadily growing in favor.

Recently, however, the startling news, which has been covering the country that great surgeons and specialists have been operating on the Lower Intestine in such serious diseases as Tuberculosis, and attribute such conditions of chronic ill-health as Nervous Debility and Rheumatism to this cause, also saying that these poisons are favorable to the development of Cancer and Tuberculosis (as stated in a recent article in The New York Times), has caused people to become thoroughly awake to the importance of keeping this Lower Intestine free from all poisonous waste matter, and over 500,000 are now using Internal Baths.

This enthusiastic and grateful letter is by no means an exceptional one amongst the hundreds on our file:—
703 7th Ave. South, Lethbridge, Alberta.
Dr. Tyrrell, Toronto:

Dear Doctor Tyrrell,—After using your "J. B. L. Cascade" for four months, I feel it my duty as a thankful patient to express my enthusiasm for the great blessing it has been to me. You cannot feel my emotions as I write this letter in praise of you in your great work. Words simply fail to express my thankfulness for first learning of your Cascade. Previous to using it I could not go a day without a drug of some sort, and since using it I have not, on my word of honor, swallowed five cents' worth of drugs. I spent over $300.00 in the two years previous to hearing of the "J. B. L." Would that all the young men and women I see in this town with their faces covered with horrid, unsightly pimples would use it. They would soon get rid of them, as I did. I must stop, or I will be keeping you from your work, but I could fill ten more pages of my past condition of health, also in praise of the "J. B. L." May you enjoy this life to the full.

Sincerely yours,

William Devoy.

If you try the "J. B. L. Cascade" you will find yourself always bright, confident and capable—the poisonous waste makes us bilious, blue, dull and nervous. Internal Baths are Nature's own cure for Constipation—just warm water properly applied. Drugs force Nature—the "J. B. L. Cascade" gently assists her.
