PATRIOTISM

Speaking about the war, to the correspondent of the Toronto Globe, while speeding across the continent towards the capital after his visit to Vancouver, Sir Wilfrid Laurier said there was no question of quitting. On the day before the election, at a time when the result was all a matter of conjecture, and at the end of a campaign of misrepresentation, deliberate and malicious, the Grand Old Man of Canada had the following to say: "If it is my good fortune to form a government, I will form a national government of the strongest men in Canada for the winning of the war, and if I am defeated, as leader of His Majesty's loyal opposition, I will still support a win the par policy of any government that is formed, as I have done heretofore. There is no question of quitting. In a word, I am in this war to a finish, because the cause of the allies is just."

That is the statement of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, the statement which he has reiterated time and again. Laurier is no quitter. He is in the fight to the finish, although it pleased his political opponents to make out that he was a quitter, and that if he were elected at the head of a government, Canada would drop out of the war.

As leader of His Majesty's loyal Opposition, Laurier will still support a win the war policy of any government that is formed, as has done heretofore. No matter in what position, the suffrage of the people of Canada chose to place him, he was in the war to a finish. His is the statement of a man, in the full sense of the term. He knows full well what Canada has to do to help the Empire in its hour of need, and as he saw fit, he was prepared to do.

During his three years in opposition, since the outbreak of war, he has given the government of the day all the assistance demanded from his position for the winning of the war. That is still his purpose. "Whatever may be the verdict of the polls," said Sir Wilfrid, in his manifesto, "I will accept it, neither elated by victory nor made downhearted by defeat." No matter what happened, that Canada do her full share in the conflict was his duty. It is his duty still.

His statement is that of a statesman, whose vision extends further than the immediate horizon. Uninfluenced by petty prejudice, unexaggerated by pre-election enthusiasm, his words are those of a man who believes and knows the full intent of what he says.

Canada has reason to be proud of the Leader of His Majesty's Loyal Opposition, Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

Real Christmassy weather this Christmas.

That "morning after" feeling is somewhat in evidence today. Too much turkey and plum pudding!

Judging from many remarks and pleased little countenances yesterday, Santa Claus must have had an awful load on his reindeer sleigh on Christmas Eve.

And Australia does not like conscription. There must be an awful lot of "traitors" there. But perhaps that's different. Will Australia be accused of wishing to "drop out of the war?"

Men, ships, aeroplanes and food is the order in which Premier Lloyd George placed the allies' necessities before the American Mission visiting London a month ago. Then they had more men than they could transport overseas, which made ships the first necessity, then aeroplanes and food. Seeing Canada's hundred thousand cannot be transported immediately, they might do equally good work on ships, aeroplanes and the production of food. The necessity is immediately greater.

The British Registrar General, addressing the Royal Statistical Society in London recently stated that Great Britain for four years of war would have lost half a million potential lives, by the fall in births. On the other hand, the war he claimed was responsible movement for the conservation of food. Help to prevent waste by demanding the whole wheat grain in breakfast foods and bread stuffs. Substitute whole wheat for meat, eggs and potatoes. The whole wheat grain is the most perfect food given to man. In Shredded Wheat Biscuit you have the whole wheat grain made digestible by steam-cooking, shredding and baking. Every particle of the whole wheat grain is used including the outer bran coat which is so useful in keeping the bowels healthy and active. For any meal with milk, and fresh fruits.

for 200,000 being married who otherwise would not have been. The loss in births to the Central Empires was ten times as great as in Great Britain. Great Britain will still have a large surplus population to fill up the more sparsely populated areas of the Empire.

GRAVES OF AMERICAN SOLDIERS IN FRANCE

Paris, Dec. 24.—General Pershing, Commander-in-Chief of the American forces in France, visited the graves of the American soldiers who were killed in action in the first week of November. The graves were covered with floral tributes, and at the head of them is the following touching inscription:—"Here rests the first soldiers of the great republic of the United States killed on French soil in the fight for justice and liberty, November 3, 1917."

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that application will be made to the Legislative Assembly of British Columbia at its next session for an act to incorporate an association known as "The Engineering and Technical Institute of British Columbia," with power to promote and increase the knowledge, skill and proficiency of its surveying and technical professions, and to that end to establish and conduct examinations and prescribe such tests of competency and moral character as may be thought expedient and to grant certificates of membership to those approved of, and to purchase or otherwise acquire and hold real and personal property for the purpose of the institute, and to dispose thereof and reinvest the proceeds in such manner as may seem fit and to fix entrance fees and annual fees or subscriptions to be paid by the members, and to provide for the management of its affairs by council to be constituted in such manner as may be provided for by law, and to have its head office and hold its annual meetings in British Columbia, and to have, enjoy, and exercise all powers, rights and privileges necessary, usual or incidental to all or any of the aforesaid purposes.
