PEACE WITH TURKEY REFUSED BY BOLSHEVIKI--DESIRES EXPRESSED THAT SWEDEN BE GO-BETWEEN WITH ALLIES AND HUNS--JUNKERS SCARED AT THE ALLIES' APPEALS TO GERMAN PEOPLE

(Special to The Daily News.)
Petrograd, Jan. 11.—A separate peace agreement has been signed between the Russian and Bulgarian Governments. The German delegation here is reported to have got into touch with the Swedish Legation in Petrograd and to have expressed the desire that Sweden act as the go-between with Great Britain, France and Italy in the preliminary stages of finding a basis for the discussion of peace terms.

Refuse Turks' Terms.
The separate peace proposals made by Turkey have been refused by the Bolsheviki Government. Among the proposals of the wily Turk was the free passage of the Dardanelles for all Russian ships; the evacuation of Turkish territory by the Russian troops, and the demobilization of the Russian Black Sea fleet. On the other hand, Turkey was to retain her active army, and her warships in commission in consequence of the continuation of the war against the Entente. These terms, however, would give Turkey virtually control of the Euxine, and would place the Armenian population in the Caucasus once again at their mercy, which Trotsky would not agree to.

Pan German's Panic.
The Hague, Jan. 11.—The Pan German element in Germany is showing signs of panic inasmuch as the tactics of President Wilson of the United States, and Premier Lloyd George of Great Britain, in appealing to the masses of the German people will, they realize, crystallize into a definite demand by Germany's people for immediate peace.

VERY HEAVY TRAVEL ON G. T. P. FROM PRAIRIES

This morning the tall masts and the smoke stacks of the G. T. P. "Prince Rupert" were to be seen above the freight sheds at the wharf, although the big steamer was billed to sail last evening. On account of the very heavy travel arising from the prairie provinces, whence the farmers who can get out, are fleeing before the severity of winter, the train due last night had to be run in two portions. The first part of the train arrived early this morning in a heavy rain, carrying a large number of through passengers for the south, while the second portion, which is carrying the mails, and making the regular stops, was not expected to arrive until noon, or thereabouts.

There are nearly three hundred travellers from the interior provinces going south, and the accommodation of the steamer is being taxed to the limit. There are many more passengers than there are berths available for, but as many of the travellers desire to make this connection, whether they get berths or not, the steamer is being held for them.

DISINTEGRATION OF OLD RUSSIAN EMPIRE

Washington, Jan. 10.—Delegates to the various Lithuanian parties at Stockholm have issued a proclamation demanding independence for Lithuania. According to an official dispatch received here today, they declare that Lithuania must be occupied by its own army and that the Lithuanian parts of Russia must be joined to the new state. The promise is made, the dispatch states, that the Lithuanian seaports will be freely open to the commerce of countries that are without openings to the sea, notably Russia, if she should be so situated.

FRENCH MINISTER WILL TELL FRENCH WAR AIMS

(Special to The Daily News.)
Paris, Jan. 11.—M. Pinchou, the French Minister of Foreign Affairs, will speak outlining the war aims of France tomorrow. The deputies in the French house are pledged to insist upon the restoration of Alsace and Lorraine.

Quite Clear.
London, Jan. 11.—Germany must give up her ambitions, declares the Northcliffe press here. They say that the war aims of the United States as set out by President Wilson require no elucidation.

RELIC OF MAMMOTH FROM THE ARCTIC

San Francisco, Jan. 10.—On her belated return from the "Farthest North" a few days ago, the power schooner Herman brought among its valuable cargo from the Arctic the lower jaw of a mammoth, which is said to be the only similar relic of the extinct elephant in existence. This memento of the immense animals that roamed the northern latitudes thousands of years ago was dug out of the snow by the natives of Point Barrow.

The importers of the cargo said that the jaw would be presented to an eastern museum. Black fox, silver fox furs, whalebone and whale oil made up the bulk of the cargo of the Herman. A live polar bear cub was captured near the point Barrow Fur station, and was brought down on the schooner. One of the seamen made the mistake of fondling the little white fellow, and had several fingers almost bitten off.
The Herman left here last April for its annual voyage to the north and very rough weather was experienced on the homeward voyage, which, however, was accomplished in safety.

PROGRESS OF THE NEW SEAL COVE SAWMILL

Regarding the sawmill being built at Seal Cove by the Prince Rupert Lumber Company, in which Mr. J. S. Emerson and Mr. E. F. Duby are interested, a very fine account of it appears in the December number of "The Timberman."

Although Mr. Emerson had retired from the lumber business with the intention of remaining out of business permanently, the virgin stands of spruce in Northern British Columbia and the increasing demand for spruce lumber presented an opportunity possessing extraordinary possibilities, to the astute mind of this keen business man, says "The Timberman."

The mill at Seal Cove is admirably adapted to the requirements of modern and up-to-date sawmill operation. Its wharf has water deep enough for the largest of ocean-going vessels to lie alongside, to carry lumber to any part of the world, while railroad tracks run into the mill yard from the G. T. P. The rapid development of Prince Rupert and the country adjacent thereto is looked to to provide a market for ever-increasing supplies of lumber and shingles, besides which the growth of the fishing industry will create a big demand for box lumber.

There are several distinguishing features about the equipment of this new mill which make it one of the most up to date ones on the whole Pacific coast. The log lift, the electrically driven set works, and the mechanical spotter for lining up the lumber in front of the edger are innovations which are duly noticed, while for the moving of the lumber in the mill itself until it is loaded for shipment will be done by the monorail system, which system, in combination with a transfer crane, has been evolved to meet the particular conditions presented.

The fuel storage is another of the many points mentioned as worthy of particular attention. It is designed in such a manner that one man will be enabled to handle the entire boiler plant on either day or night shift, while the conveyor system does away with the drudgery of shovelling fuel into the furnaces.

Consistent efficiency was the chief aim of the designers of the plant, and it is considered eminently possible for this mill to produce lumber at a minimum cost.

The construction work and equipment of the mill is going ahead in fine shape, and it will not be very long until sawing will be in operation.

HUN CAMPAIGN IN ITALY HELD UP BY SNOWS

Heavy Snow Falls During last Few Days Tie up His Communications Through Mountain Passes.

(Special to The Daily News.)

Rome, Jan. 11.—The enemy's winter campaign appears to have been interrupted seriously, if not halted definitely by the heavy snow falls during the last few days, and particularly during the last twenty-four hours. On the mountain front, the snow has covered everything to a depth of from three to five feet. Several of the Austro-German supply trains are stalled in the mountain regions, and extreme difficulty is being experienced in feeding the troops now in the field. The lines of communication from the Hun depots to the front are so long and exposed that train after train is on the way, but cannot proceed further. Meantime, the soldiers at the front are beginning to feel the pinch of hunger.

French Front.

Paris, Jan. 11.—French troops repulsed a German raid to the east of the upper Coudy forest. There has been very active artillery fighting in the region of Vaixailon. On the right bank of the Meuse, there has been reciprocal artillery actions. Calm prevails elsewhere.

British Front.

London, Jan. 11.—There is no news from the western front.

THE HEAVY SNOWFALL PRESAGES GOOD CROPS

Penticton, B. C., Jan. 9.—Among the wide circle of successful fruit ranchers of this and surrounding district of Kaledon, Summerland and Naramata, the heavy fall of snow has already formed a picture of a prosperous coming year, of much moisture and consequently much fertility. After such a protracted period of drought such as prevailed during the latter part of the summer and all fall it is doubly welcome to view the cloudy season now prevailing throughout the Okanagan.
