Pauline Frederick is the star actress at the Westholme Theatre tonight. One of the screen's greatest emotional actresses, she would grace any role she was given to perform, but in the play for tonight, "The love that lives," as an office scrubwoman, she attains to new heights of artistry. There would seem to be few, if any possibilities in a role of this kind, yet to it, Pauline Frederick has imparted all the charm and pathos, and infinite understanding, of which she alone is capable. Tragedy, pathos and self sacrifice are vividly portrayed in this photoplay by the young mother fighting for her children, and their welfare. Yet the tale is lit up with flashes of humor, and in the end a light of such happiness flashes over the face of the scrubwoman completely transfiguring her. Miss Frederick has made this role one of the most brilliant in her career.

There will also be shown official war views and a fine comedy.
