THE SUPREME WAR COUNCIL

At Versailles, that place of so many historic memories for France and for Europe, the representatives of all the allies have been conferring for the past few days, talking over the initial feelers for peace, which have been thrown out from Germany and Austria-Hungary, and arising out of the discussion of peace terms which has already taken place at Brest-Litovsk.

The allies can find no approximation in these speeches to the terms already put forward by themselves. The conditions of peace, which will be agreeable to the allies are already well known. Germany knows what they are, and her rulers like them not. Austria-Hungary knows what they are, and that proudest of European courts cannot see any great satisfaction in them.

The peace of the world, and the welfare of the peoples of these respective countries, and of all peoples on the globe for that matter, are, however, interested to a great degree, whether they admit it or not. They are interested, or ought to be, in the maintenance of peace, and of the peaceful evolution of society.

The ideals of freedom as seen by the allies and as imagined by Germany are totally different. The freedom that Germany requires for her Kultur is no freedom. It is licence to do as she wills, quite irrespective of the freedom of her neighbors. Her conception of freedom is as much behind the ideas of the Entente as that of the Bolsheviks in Russia appears to be advanced. The German ideals belong to the past, just as the Russian mind is endeavoring to bring to pass the ideals which belong to the future.

While no one wants this war to continue one second longer than it must, still there are but few among the allied countries who would like to see it terminated according to present conditions. German soil is still intact. No foreign invader has set foot in that country, while she at present is still able to wreak her barbarian will upon Belgium and upon the provinces of Russia. Alsace and Lorraine are not yet in the possession of France, and the German fleet is still sheltering behind the fortifications of Heligoland, ready, presumably, for another foray, whenever conditions serve. Her armies are still powerful. In a word, Germany is not yet beaten, although in process thereof.

Until this is an accomplished fact, and German militarism is forever discredited in the eyes of the peoples of the world, for self preservation, the fight must go on.

This first law of nature applies equally on both sides, which helps the real nature of the struggle to be understood. There can be no let up in the fight, until the future for the allies is assured. That condition is the same from the German point of view. The decision of the Supreme War Council to continue the vigorous prosecution of the war until peace can be obtained "based upon principles of freedom, justice and respect for international law" is the only decision which they could come to, compatible with the expressed wishes of the free peoples they represent.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

Roumania seems to be up against it. She has had to fight the Bulgarians, the Austrians and Germans. Now her erstwhile friends who betrayed her in the first instance, the Russians, are overrunning her lands.

Sir Edward Carson is making an almost royal progress through Protestant Ulster. Home Rule for Ireland seems to be about as far on as ever.

That Canadian factories have to close down on account of the fuel shortage brings home to Canadians the true seriousness of the position with respect to the supplies of coal available. Notwithstanding that Canada has immense deposits of coal, known and in many instances proved, millions of tons annually have to be

Nothing Like Internal Bathing for Constipation

If people only knew what internal bathing is doing for thousands of others there would be fewer pills and laxatives swallowed and very much less suffering from Constipation and the accompanying Stomach and Nervous troubles resulting from it.

Mrs. Cave, 841 Ellery St., Victoria, B. C., writes:—

"Before using the 'J. B. L. Cascade' I suffered constantly from Constipation, had frequent bilious attacks and sick headaches. Since beginning your system of internal bathing with the 'J. B. L. Cascade' four months ago, I have not had one attack and feel stronger and better in every way. My only regret is that I did not get a Cascade sooner."

By the proper application of nature's cure, warm water, by means of the 'J. B. L. Cascade' the lower intestines are kept free from all poisonous waste. Drugs force Nature. Internal Bathing assists her. Dr. Chas. A. Tyrrell of New York, a specialist on internal bathing, invented and perfected the 'J. B. L. Cascade,' which has done more during the past 20 years in restoring health and lessening disease than all other means combined. Ask Cyril H. Orme, druggist, cor. 3rd Ave. and 6th St., for booklet, "Why Man of Today is Only 50 Per Cent. Efficient." He will also be pleased to show and explain the J. B. L. Cascade to you.

Furniture wanted. Any quantity. Good prices paid for complete household furnishings and all kinds of tools, men's suits, coats, etc. Phone Red 243 or call on F. M. Crosby, 715 Third Ave.

imported from the United States. The shortage in the eastern provinces exist at the present moment chiefly because these supplies have been temporarily withdrawn. The demand for coal there has increased tremendously of late years, partly through the increased consumption in manufacturing for war purposes, and partly through increased export for the allies.

Canada is in the strange position of having the coal within her own borders, yet cannot get it. It has to be won, and there has not yet been sufficient development work done to permit of this just now.

Alderman Casey surprised the mayor and the other councillors on Monday evening when he offered to serve as alderman without the customary indemnity. The rest of the council, however, would not hear of this, and voted that Alderman Casey be paid as usual. These aldermen are very considerate the one to the other.

When the curfew bell rings hereafter, the children on the streets must go home. If they are at school and have lessons to learn, they ought to be home long before that. Now that the city fathers are beginning to take an interest in the welfare of the city's children, they might get busy and provide the youngsters with somewhere to play instead of on the streets. Some of the tax sale lots might be used for this purpose. Every section of the city could do with something of this kind. It would be money well spent, too.
