IMPERIAL DEMOCRACY.

This expression, Imperial Democracy, may be taken by many to be contradiction of terms, or apparently so; in other words, a paradox. Yet, for the British people at large, it is not so.

The British idea of government of an empire is something new in the history of empires in this world. Never before was there one like this one, and this remark is made in all seriousness, and without any boastfulness.

The story of the evolution of the empire is a record of apparently casual, haphazard and in this time of stress, when a deliberate and determined attempt is being made to destroy it, this characteristic becomes pronounced when it is compared with the steadfast continental policy pursued by the makers of modern Germany, and to the scheming and blatant imperialism of Kaiser Wilhelm II.

The extreme diversity of its units is one of the outstanding characteristics of this Imperial Democracy. It is made up of Dominions, Colonies, Commonwealths and Unions, each independent of, yet in close contact with the original United Kingdom, and the dependencies of its Crown.

closely bound up with idealism. It was born of idealism, and in turn, it reinforced and expanded the ideals already in existence.

It is difficult to over-emphasize the essentially democratic character of the beginnings of colonization by the British race, and since that beginning, not no many hundred years ago either, taken on the whole, the liberty of the British colonists to manage their own affairs has been complete.

The writer insists upon the desirability of making a union of British subjects the foundation of a more comprehensive brotherhood of mankind, and hopes that in the unification of the British Empire—which wishes to dwell at peace with the world, and which, after the war, will enjoy more numerous and durable international friendships than ever—may be discovered a powerful influence for the future banishment of war.

The heritage which this generation of British people have received from their fathers, while a glorious one, also has its responsibilities. The various democracies composing the empire are responsible to themselves only, in fact, if not in name, but as their development proceeds and these constituent

OWES HER LIFE TO "FRUIT-A-TIVES"

The Wonderful Medicine, Made From Fruit Juices and Valuable Tonics.

MADAME ROSINA FOISIZ

29 St. Rose St., Montreal.

"I am writing you to tell you that I owe my life to 'Fruit-a-tives'. This medicine relieved me when I had given up hope of ever being well. I was a terrible sufferer from Dyspepsia—had suffered for years; and nothing I took did me any good. I read about 'Fruit-a-tives'; and tried them. After taking a few boxes, I am now entirely well. You have my permission to publish this letter, as I hope it will persuade other sufferers from Dyspepsia to take 'Fruit-a-tives' and get well."

parts come into a closer union, that responsibility must be shared in one common Imperial policy.

HEBREW UNIVERSITY ON MOUNT OF OLIVES

New York, March 14.—The establishment of a Hebrew University in Jerusalem before the end of the war will be the first duty of the Jewish Commission, which leaves soon for Palestine, according to an announcement made here today by the Palestine Restoration Fund Commission.

Louise, nine years old, asked her mother: "Where is papa going?" "To a stag party," she replied. "What is a stag party, mama?" Sister Mabel, seven years old, who had been listening, with a dignified attitude of superior wisdom, answered instantly: "It's where they stagger. Don't you know?"—Pittsburg Sun.
