LEGAL METHODS

Greece may be a backward country in some respects, but its judicial methods would seem worthy of consideration, with a view to imitation.

There is of course nothing extraordinary in the fact that two officers who were pulled ashore from a German submarine were captured and condemned to death. This is in itself merely one of the ordinary incidents of war.

What is notable is the remark, thrown in casually and apparently as a matter of little consequence, that "their lawyer also received the death sentence."

This is a modern adaptation of the mediaeval custom by which the seconds in a duel were also expected to cross rapiers, and to take the same chances as their principals.

The degenerate codes of nations further west do not expose lawyers to any worse risks than an occasional inability to collect their fees from impecunious clients.

Greece has the correct notion. If the jury's verdict were understood to include also the lawyer, the number of guilty men who escape might be materially reduced. The average jury would figure that a verdict which hanged both lawyer and client, must be at least half right.—Sun.

GETTING THEM GOING

The announcement that the British Euphrates army, after its brilliant success at Hit, has reached a point over 150 miles up the river is of intense interest and suggests sensational military possibilities. These troops thus are within 200 miles of Aleppo, the northern gateway to Syria, and the junction point of the Hedjaz railroad supplying the Turkish forces confronting Allenby's troops in Palestine with the Bagdad railway route. Aleppo is the base of Turkish operations in Armenia, Palestine and Mesopotamia, and its capture by the British would seriously affect the enemy in those areas. For that reason, however, it is likely to be strongly held and it may be that the British forces which have been advancing so rapidly during the last few days are only strong patrols and will not go that far. But it would not be necessary for the British to capture Aleppo to dislocate the plans of the Turks. A few miles beyond the point reached by them two days ago will bring them to the ancient caravan route which links Palestine with the Euphrates, passing through historic Tadmor in the Syrian desert. If British cavalry, operating from the Euphrates westward, could strike the Hedjaz railroad anywhere between Aleppo and Damascus the Turks in Palestine would be cut off from their main source of supply, while if Marshall's forces were strong enough to capture and hold Aleppo before the Turks could withdraw from Palestine into Asia Minor, Allenby's foe would be securely bottled up, for only through Aleppo, the neck of the bottle, could the Moslem troops in Palestine effect their escape. The Turks opposing Allenby in any case are likely to beat a precipitate retreat shortly, in which event we soon should hear of extensive advances by the British in Palestine.

LOGGING—AND LOGGING

A matter of considerable importance was brought up at the meeting of the Board of Trade at their last gathering. It is important, not only to this part of the province, but to the Dominion as a whole. And that was the manner in which the logging operations on the Queen Charlotte Islands are at present being carried on. On account of the great demand for spruce for aeroplane construction, and the extreme fineness of the Munitions Board grade, at present only spruce logs are being taken out. In order to get at them, many other trees have to be removed, and also to get the logs out. Other standing trees are oftentimes barked, and when the light gets in, through the thinning of the trees, these will die. Between one thing and another it is doubtful if many of these areas will be profitable to log over again, for the sake of what is left of the presently merchantable timber, and at the rate at which the present operations are being conducted a year and a half will see all the spruce gone, and these areas left, useless.

By being logged clean, the added cost would be negligible, and a value of something like $3,000,000 in timber would be retained in these areas alone. This seems too large a sum to lose, while at the same time, saving it would hardly delay the production of spruce.

The conservation of Canada's forests is already exercising the minds of the government, and it would seem as if it were only right and proper that this important matter be taken up, and dealt with efficiently. The war is not over yet, and Canada cannot afford to waste her lumber resources, nor any other, notwithstanding however bountifully British Columbia may be supplied.

Appendicitis Operations Not Always Necessary

Internal Bathing Relieves the Cause
Your physician will tell you that Appendicitis is an inflamed condition of the little sack called the Appendix at the lower right-hand corner of the Colon or large intestine. By cleansing this Colon with purified warm water by the "J. B. L. Cascade" this sack is cleansed and the inflammation subsides. Hundreds of operations have been avoided by using the warm water cure for Appendicitis. Dr. Jas. McLaughlin, 91 Evanston street, Winnipeg, writes:—

"I had spent over fifty dollars with doctors trying to cure Appendicitis. Finally the doctor said I must go to the hospital at once for an operation. Your advertisement interested me. I bought a "J. B. L. Cascade," which relieved me at once, and am now completely cured. Never felt better in my life; all pain and soreness gone, and I eat and sleep like a boy. I am grateful to Dr. Tyrrell for this wonderful health-giving invention."

95 per cent. of all human ills are caused by accumulated waste in the Colon. Internal Bathing with the "J. B. L. Cascade" keeps this large intestine as free from all waste and as clean as nature demands it should be for perfect health. Ask Cyril H. Orme, Druggist, corner 3rd Ave. and 6th st., for booklet called "Why Man of Today is Only 50 Per Cent. Efficient." It is free. He will also be pleased to show and explain the "J. B. L. Cascade" to you.
