AGAINST THE WHOLE WORLD

Though all hope of a Russian recovery has practically vanished, Germany certainly seems to be risking something by her present display of cynical arrogance with regard to that country. The world's ultimate safety against strong bullies lies very largely in their fatal tendency to make a premature jettison of conciliatory pretences—to grasp at the prey before it is thoroughly entangled in the net. The contemptuous ignoring of the Russian acceptance of peace conditions was, to say the least of it, bad policy on Germany's part. It has given the Leninist rulers the occasion for issuing proclamations which, though pathetically false in tone, may have the effect of rousing Petrograd to a resistance which the Germans may find more than troublesome. The highly technical nature of modern warfare does not give much scope for an improvising genius; nevertheless, if a Carnot or a Napoleon were to emerge in Petrograd he might at least be able to make Germany reconsider the wisdom of persisting in carrying out against a potentially powerful nation a policy of open brigandage which it is hazardous to attempt even against those "little peoples" whom the Prussian so heartily despises. Whatever may be Germany's intention in flouting Russian susceptibilities by pushing her troops beyond the limits of the "conceded" territories, it is not for us to quarrel with her policy. Every mile she marches towards the Russian capital weakens by so much her power of an effective offensive on the main front, the front which stretches from the Piave to the Yser. She herself is under no delusions as to the scene in which the last and fiercest act of Europe's tragedy must be enacted. Her offensive in the west shows that this is so, but much has happened since Cambrai. The Allies have profited by their mistakes. The establishment of the Versailles Council has been the coping-stone of the hard constructive and unifying work that has been going on in the Allied armies since the autumn. France is stronger and better prepared than at any time since 1914. Recent actions show that Italy, inspired and heartened by British comradeship, has more than recovered both her moral tone and her "will to victory." Britain is still "unloading" a reserve man-power which is infinitely greater than Germany's both in quantity and calibre. It is doubtful if in sheer numbers the German troops set free from the East counterbalance the American divisions now on the Lorraine front—and any comparison as to quality between the ill-fed and disheartened reservists of Germany and the fresh, ardent, lithe young soldiers of America is out of the question. When one reviews all the circumstances, it is difficult to understand how pessimism can flourish on British soil.

Baffled on the West, the pessimist seeks refuge in the southeast. He shakes his head over the capture of Jericho and the advance up the Euphrates to Hit, and prophesies evil for forces whose eastern flank has been "left in the air" by the withdrawal of the Russians to the Caucasus. There is no use pretending that the Russian withdrawal has not made a serious difference to our position on the southeastern front. But the difference has been discounted and anticipated, and every day sees an increase in the British strength behind the lines on the Jordan and the Tigris. The pessimist forgets, also, that while our strength is steadily increasing, that of Turkey is all but exhausted, and Austria-Hungary is frankly "fed up" with the war and longing to be out of it at all costs. Germany's arm has lengthened in the north-east. The issues are narrowing, as it was foretold they would. It is no longer the world against the Quadruple Alliance. It is the world against Germany.

GREAT BRAVERY OF RED CROSS GIRLS

Paris, April 10.—Girls attached to one front line unit of the Red Cross made a fine record in the recent German offensive. At Roye they took over the direction of military traffic. One girl in grey uniform standing at the four corners directing columns of guns, cavalry, supply wagons and troops, thus preventing a traffic jam.

The unit had been located at Greycourt, a few miles back of the lines, doing reconstruction and relief work when the offensive began. They were the last women to leave several towns before the Germans entered, and were on duty in half a dozen villages, widely separated, when the word came of the German advance. They aided hundreds of refugees to the railheads, and established a temporary kitchen in one town, feeding 250 British soldiers who had not eaten for hours.

GERMANS CROSS ICE TO ATTACK FINLAND

Petrograd, April 9.—German troops are reported to be marching from the Aland Islands across the ice at the mouth of the Gulf of Bothnia, in the direction of Abo, a seaport on the southern coast of Finland.

Three, four—they all want more.

Appendicitis Operations Not Always Necessary

Internal Bathing Relieves the Cause
Your physician will tell you that Appendicitis is an inflamed condition of the little sack called the Appendix at the lower right-hand corner of the Colon or large intestine. By cleansing this Colon with purified warm water by the "J. B. L. Cascade" this sack is cleansed and the inflammation subsides. Hundreds of operations have been avoided by using the warm water cure for Appendicitis. Mr. Jas. McLaughlin, 91 Evanston street, Winnipeg, writes:—

"I had spent over fifty dollars with doctors trying to cure Appendicitis. Finally the doctor said I must go to the hospital at once for an operation. Your advertisement interested me. I bought a 'J. B. L. Cascade,' which relieved me at once, and am now completely cured. Never felt better in my life; all pain and soreness gone, and I eat and sleep like a boy. I am grateful to Dr. Tyrrell for this wonderful health-giving invention." 95 per cent. of all human ills are caused by accumulated waste in the Colon. Internal Bathing with the "J. B. L. Cascade" keeps this large intestine as free from all waste and as clean as nature demands it should be for perfect health. Ask Cyril H. Orme, Druggist, corner 3rd Ave. and 6th st., for booklet called "Why Man of Today is Only 50 Per Cent. Efficient." It is free. He will also be pleased to show and explain the "J. B. L. Cascade" to you.
