The Red Triangle Campaign.

So far as Prince Rupert is concerned, this has been a busy week. Culminating as it does today in a house to house canvas for the Y.M.C.A. it may well be called Red Triangle week. There is little doubt but that the amount which has been set for Prince Rupert to aim at will be realized, and had conditions here been as they ought, and as most of us expected they would, by this time, the amount set for Prince Rupert would have been very much higher. But even without the payroll from the dry-dock and shipbuilding yards, Prince Rupert can always be depended upon to do its share.

The work and thought which a campaign of this nature entails, is not always appreciated by the general public. In this one city of Prince Rupert, behind all the activities of the past week, there has been an organizing brain at work. On almost every public occasion for days past the Y. M. C. A. has been mentioned. If you attended any of the churches or any of their meetings throughout the week, some thing was said about the Y. M. C. A. If you went to the show, you were given a pamphlet stating what the "Y" was doing for the boys, and between the reels, two slides at least appeared on the screen calling attention to the work of the "Y" and the campaign of today. Everyone who attended the Hon. T. D. Pattullo's meeting got one of the "Y" leaflets. If you attended a lodge, or a dance somebody was reminding you of the "Y." It mattered not where you went, either along the business streets, the residential sections, to Seal Cove, or to Section Two, you could not escape seeing the Red Triangle poster reminding you of today's campaign. The readers of the newspapers have for five nights in succession looked upon a different announcement and read new facts regarding the work of the Y. M. C. A. There is hardly a person in the city either young or old who has not during the week conversed with someone about the campaign, and talked of the good work being done by the "Y" among the boys at the front.

To mention the publicity part of the campaign, as an observer sees it, is merely touching half of it. Every organization in the city is actively interested in the movement. Hardly has there been such unanimity among all the different organizations of this city. From the mayor and council down, every active organization has been sympathetically enlisted. The movement was first of all endorsed by the G. W. V. A.; the three chapters of the Daughters of the Empire; the Red Cross; the W. C. T. U.; the Women's Auxiliary of the G. W. V. A., and the business men as well have supplied canvassers. Every church in the city has its representative in the movement and it is a source of gratification that such a cause as the Red Triangle should be so heartily backed by the citizens of our city.

But before all this publicity came about, and before the sympathy of these various organizations was enlisted, the details of how the campaign was to be worked were stored away in the brain of Mr. W. Boulton, the district organizer. His well built figure and genial face have become popular along our streets during these past days. Mr. Boulton has been in Prince Rupert many times previously, but this time, he has shown that he is not only a powerful platform speaker, but is also a careful organizer. Those who are already acquainted with Mr. Boulton and his educational attainments will realize that while "Tis not for mortals to command success," he, like another classical figure, "deserves it."

Although Mr. Boulton has been the mainspring of the Prince Rupert campaign, his name has never once been mentioned in connection with any of the public announcements. Interrogated regarding his organizing ability as well as that as a public speaker, with becoming modesty he declares that he is only carrying out the suggestions of the local people, and that if there is any credit going, it is theirs. While the military committee of the Y. M. C. A. in Prince Rupert have not been idle either during these last days, there is distinctly great credit attaching to the manner in which the campaign has been organized by Mr. Boulton.

A Clergyman's Wife Wants Women to Know Advantages of Internal Bathing

If women could only see the thousands of letters Dr. Tyrrell has received from grateful women in all parts of the world, thanking him for his wonderful invention for internal bathing, they would soon discard the medicine bottle and look to the cause of their trouble. 95 per cent of all human ills are due to accumulated waste in the Colon or Large Intestine. Warm water, properly used with the "J. B. L. Cascade," will relieve the cause of your troubles and perfect health will follow.

A Winnipeg clergyman writes: "My wife is naturally sensitive about having her name appear in public print, yet is anxious that others should know what the "J. B. L. Cascade" has done for her. It has really given her a new lease of life. For years she had been doctoring for constipation, which became worse every year. Since using the "J. B. L. Cascade," first about 4 years ago, she has not been sick a day, and has become robust and strong again. Should any person wish this letter confirmed, you are at liberty to give my name in private."

The "J. B. L. Cascade" is shown and explained by Cyril H. Orme, Third Avenue, Prince Rupert, B.C.

The "J. B. L. Cascade" is an invention, perfected by Dr. Chas. A. Tyrrell of New York, and has done more during the past few years to restore health, and lessen disease than all other means combined. Ask for booklet explaining all about Internal Bathing and what it has done for others." It is free.

Some Sidelights on Y.M.C.A. War Work

The "Walking Wounded"—A Village Without a Y.M.C.A. Can the Need Be Measured?

"I think of the Y.M.C.A. emergency work when a great push is on," writes Francis B. Sayre in "Harper's," "and the wounded soldiers are streaming back from the front literally by the thousands, maimed, and torn and bleeding. The numbers are so vast that the stretcher-bearers can only attend to the prostrate wounded.

"All those who can manage to walk or crawl, known as the 'walking wounded,' must make their own way as best they can to the first aid stations. By the side of these first aid stations the Y.M.C.A. takes its place; and all the walking wounded who come in are given hot coffee and made as comfortable as possible while they wait, sometimes for hours."

Can Need be Measured?

Referring to the Y.M.C.A. huts, the writer says: "I have seen the halls so crowded on the occasion of some religious talk that after the benches were all filled and the standing room taken, soldiers kept crowding in through the windows to sit on the floor of the platform, and others remained outside to listen to the speaker through the windows."

A Village Without Y.M.C.A.

Here is the writer's picture of a French village without a Y.M.C.A.: "With only evil ways in which to spend money burning in their pockets, with nothing to relieve the dull monotony of idle evenings, many of them began to get lonely and homesick, or to drift along dangerous paths.

"It was not many days before officers began to send hurry calls for the Y.M.C.A.: 'For God's sake come down before it's too late and do something for my men.'

Death of a Y.M.C.A. Secretary

"One shell, dropping not ten feet from the dug-out, churned up the earth, the next went crashing through the steel sheeting. A party left the battery to search for the Non-Combatant (Y.M.C.A. secretary). Clambering through the shell-hole, they saw the fruit cans gashed as if by a hundred chisels; the stocks scattered and destroyed; the mugs broken; the cocoa-urn over-turned; and when they had thrown the debris aside they found the Non-Combatant (Y.M.C.A. secretary), with a dark red stream oozing from his head, still smiling, but sleeping his last sleep."
