THE IMMENSITY OF IT

Prince Rupert these days is left in a quiet eddy of the great and turbulent world-stream, only tiny ripples reaching us of the mighty storms upheaving the rest of this planet. Fortunately so that we are so removed, for in the larger centres of population there is soul-tearing perplexity where the next bolt may fall. In London and in Paris they can hear on a clear day the murderous roar of the cannon at the front daily swirling out of existence thousands of human lives. Also, there is the constant bombing to tingle the nerves and keep minds fixed on the dire tragedies happening every moment. Even New York, far distant as it is from the seat of war, has this week had the great struggle brought to its very doors by the submarine activity just outside its harbor. In all the larger communities the war is the all-absorbing topic of all conversation. And very justly so from every point of view, for it is the greatest news event that has happened in human history. Its immensity staggers even the imagination, and reason balks in every effort to comprehend it. Take and try to analyse, for instance, one little fact, that there are today fifty millions of men under arms. Fifty millions! At a great review, or a famous football match or other great event, some few of us have seen fifty thousand people assembled at one time and in one place. Call up the picture of this in your mind, and resolutely command your mental faculties to multiply this picture to one of fifty million. Can it be done? And even though some super-brain among us be able to compass this there is still more to come. That fifty million of men on the fighting line has each behind him four other men, the workers, the railway builders, the freighters, the cooks and waiters and the great army of doctors and nurses. Altogether two hundred and fifty millions of men, or about three-quarters of the working population of the entire world, have been withdrawn from peaceful productive industry for these years to engage in the destructive work of killing their kind. Even then the sum total is not reached, for behind these hundreds of millions of fighters and war workers are their families and the innumerable thinkers, hoppers, planners, demanders. No, the sum is far too hard for ordinary minds to puzzle out in all its ramifications. But, as an exercise of mental force, just try to visualize two hundred and fifty millions of men. The resulting picture cannot fail to be of interest.

RANDOM BITS

You're proud of your pals in the army, but what do your pals think of you?

If there is at any time a tendency towards pessimism in this country consider the bravery, the supreme confidence of France under fire and let us forge courageously ahead to the completion of our task.

Madame Schumann-Heink, the famous cantatrice, sang to an audience of 20,000 people at San Diego, Cal., on Sunday, at the municipal organ of that city. The occasion was a mass meeting held under the auspices of the American Red Cross, and when she had finished singing the diva gave a brief talk and made a stirring appeal for funds for the Red Cross. In the course of her address the singer announced that she expects to sail for France in the latter part of July as a Red Cross worker. She will be entirely at the disposal of the Red Cross and hopes to remain at the front for the duration of the war, she stated. During the recital a number of soldiers passed a collection plate, consisting of a huge American flag, and obtained over $7,000 in donations.

BRITISH HONOR AMERICANS

Headquarters of the American troops with the British Army in France, June 4—The British Military Cross has been awarded to eleven American officers and the Military Medal to four men. Most of the officers took part in the defense of the Luce Valley during the great German attack in March, being incorporated in the improvised army of Major-General Carey, which held back the Germans for six days after they had broken through the British line in the region of St. Quentin.

The four privates are cited for heroic conduct on the night of February 23rd. At great risk they removed a burning car of munitions from an ammunition dump and placed it under a stand-pipe, flooding the car and extinguishing the flames.

A Clergyman's Wife Wants Women to Know Advantages of Internal Bathing

If women could only see the thousands of letters Dr. Tyrrell has received from grateful women in all parts of the world, thanking him for his wonderful invention for Internal Bathing, they would soon discard the medicine bottle and look to the cause of their trouble. 95 per cent. of all human ills are due to accumulated waste in the Colon or Large Intestine. Warm water, properly used with the "J. B. L. Cascade," will relieve the cause of your troubles and perfect health will follow.

A Winnipeg clergyman writes: "My wife is naturally sensitive about having her name appear in public print, yet is anxious that others should know what the "J. B. L. Cascade" has done for her. It has really given her a new lease of life. For years she had been doctoring for Constipation, which became worse every year. Since using the "J. B. L. Cascade," first about 4 years ago, she has not been sick a day, and has become robust and strong again. Should any person wish this letter confirmed, you are at liberty to give my name in private."

The "J. B. L. Cascade" is shown and explained by Cyril H. Orme, Third Avenue, Prince Rupert, B.C.
The "J. B. L. Cascade" is an invention, perfected by Dr. Chas. A. Tyrrell of New York, and has done more during the past few years to restore health and lessen disease than all other means combined. Ask for booklet explaining all about Internal Bathing and what it has done for others." It is free.
