WILL GO THE LIMIT

The British Columbia representative on the Food Board is reported to have stated at New Westminster on Saturday evening that before long the people of Canada might have to go without wheat flour altogether until the next harvest. This, he explained, might be due to the order to the milling companies to turn over for export all their surplus stocks of wheat beyond their normal milling requirements for four weeks.

The Canadian people will accept this disability and others of the same kind willingly for the sake of the common cause. Between now and the next harvest the necessities of the Allies in Europe will be extremely pressing, and it will be the duty of Canada and the United States to do their utmost to relieve them. Before the war Canadians held the world's record in per capita wheat consumption and has continued to hold it up to this time. We could do very well at any time with a fifty per cent cut, but in the present emergency there will be no complaint if a much greater restriction be deemed necessary.

UNITED IN SORROW

Many a housewife who pays fifty cents and upwards for a pound of butter says in her haste that this is the farmer's golden age, and she envies the man of the plow wickedly and without measure. At the same moment it is possible that her husband is experiencing some disillusion which will modify his views for years to come. Catching the super production fever, he is gardening at home or on his club's farm as he never did before. In the physical sense alone he has learned some of the soreness and monotony of muscular labor. A half-day with a hoe raises blisters and a weariness that brings mystifying silence to his tongue.

Before he has recovered he encounters some of the discouragements of his new avocation. On paper his adventures should bring abundant return for the investment of money and labor. But the seed catalogue and the prospectus take no account of the adversities ahead. Could every crop yield one hundred per cent, of expectations there would be no need of a Food Controller. There is, for example, the delay in the spring rains, which gives things a bad start, from which they may not recover. Then come the thousand and one pests that fly or crawl or burrow. The apple trees are a mass of bloom, but the club man learns that the blooms will mean nothing if the poison is not sprayed on them several times to kill some bug he never heard of before. The potatoes, he learns, face a deluge of bugs, which must be taken on the right day, or they, too, will fail as a crop. Even the tomato plants need a bugicide when planted or they will be nipped off by some strange crawling creature.

So the club man or the home gardener is entering a new world these days. It is a world of uncertainties compared with the salary that comes regularly and undiminishing each week. The farmer gambles with nature for his reward. He matches his skill against the forces arrayed against him. The city man finds it a transformed business since he left the farm, with new enemies and new ways of overcoming them. The lesson will be full of surprises, but it will be a profitable by-product of the war period if Mr. City Man learns more tolerance for the farmer's viewpoint and understands the troubles of the combat with the forces of nature.

VOLUNTARY BASIS WILL BE DROPPED

At a meeting of the national executive committee of the Canadian Patriotic fund at Ottawa on May 16, it was decided that after March 31, 1919, no further campaigns would be inaugurated for voluntary subscriptions from individuals, companies or municipal or provincial bodies, but that any additional revenue thereafter required should be sought from the Federal government. Naturally this cannot be procured until next session of the Dominion parliament.

It is expected that the contributions in hand, and those which are to come in under promise until the date above mentioned, will suffice for the requirements of the fund, and the national executive committee hold with confidence the opinion that there will be no abatement during the ensuing 10 months in the payments from voluntary sources.

To Extend Promises.

The various committees will ask contributors to continue, until March 31 next, all promises which have been made to expire at the end of this calendar year. An important factor in this decision lies in the fact that the war loans and other government requirements largely monopolize the majority of the sources from which revenue has in the past been derived.

A large attendance from all parts of the country attended the meeting, over which his excellency the governor-general presided.

Each stick he chewed his health renewed

But his father said "The boy is wise,
I let him do it to advertise!
Since I quit my piping and bought this store
I'm selling Wrigley's gum galore!"

Two Questions

With so many low-priced so-called anti-skids obtainable, would that great host of motorists pay more for Dunlop "Traction" Tread if they could get its merits elsewhere?

Also, would that other large list of car owners buy "SPECIAL" if tires which somewhat resemble it in appearance resembled it in efficiency?

DROP a little LUX into hot water. Stir it about. Instantly it dissolves, giving a thick, creamy lather. Drop in the garments and move them about. When clean, rinse in 2 or 3 relays of fresh warm water—press out the water and dry.

What happens? Your clothes are exquisitely clean and NEW. Nothing matted or shrunken. Colors gleaming and unfaded. Why? Because LUX—sifted little flakes of soap—is pure essence of soap and cannot harm anything that clean water may touch.

Shirtwaists, silk sweaters—dainty woollens—anything washable, from crepe-de-chine, lamp shades to baby's carriage cover is beautifully and easily washed with LUX.
