Musical Opinion of London Lauds Compositions of Daughter of Local Woman

The following from Musical Opinion, published in London, England, concerns the musical compositions of Lozanne, daughter of Mrs. Russell M. Smith of this city.

"Messrs. Keith Prowse announce a new group of songs, the words by Edward Lockton and the music by Lozanne. All have been broadcast by Miss Evette Darnac. The titles are: "Night Brings Me You," "Deep in My Heart," and "Dark-haired Marie." Mr. Lockton has woven a connecting thread of love sentiment through the three lyrics, which make a short and complete cycle. The composer has well realized throughout his music the passion and sentiment, and has written three splendid examples of ballad love songs. We hope when this composer writes again, that he will not be so shy as to conceal his name, for the songs reveal courage and ability. The songs are accessible to average singers by their simplicity, and the piano accompaniments are also easy."
