LIVE WIRES

At the Labor Party conference which concludes a three-day session in London, England, today, a most imposing agenda had been prepared. There were twenty-seven resolutions on reconstruction proposed by the Executive, and among the suggestions are the gradual building up of a new social order founded on "The deliberately planned co-operation in production and distribution, the systematic approach to a healthy equality, the widest possible participation in power, both economic and political, and the general consciousness of consent which characterise a true democracy. To increase production, the elimination of inefficiency and waste more science and intelligence to every branch of the nation's work and the indispensable marshalling of the nation's resources so that each need is met in the order of and in proportion to its real national importance are urged. By legislation the Government should ensure to every adult worker of either sex on the very lowest statutory base a line of wages (to be revised with every substantial rise in prices) not less than enough to provide all the requirements of a full development of body, mind and character. The provision to be made on demobilization should be worked out in detail before the war ends, and published for mistakes to be rectified. The restoration of trade union conditions, the complete emancipation of women, and the repeal of D.O.R.A. are demanded, together with Home Rule for Ireland and separate legislative assemblies for Scotland, Wales, and even England, with autonomous administration in local matters, the present Parliament to be retained in the form of a Federal Assembly for the United Kingdom. It is suggested that the State should take over the whole function of life assurance. Another proposal is that of a "Peace Book," in which, in order to avoid confusion in the period of demobilization, the main outlines of policy should be definitely formulated before the war ends so that they can publish for public criticism before being finally adopted by the Cabinet.

The example of Organized Labor in discussing such vital questions relating to the welfare of the community is one which might well be followed by that labor of all kinds which is as yet unorganized. Where else in Prince Rupert are such things publicly discussed unless in the Trades and Labor Council meetings?

QUEBEC LOYAL AND TRUE

A Toronto newspaper was astonished the other day to find that for some weeks past the province of Quebec was ahead of all the others in the matter of enrollment. The patriotic spirit which has been manifest of late amongst the young men of the University of Laval provoked the admiration of Parliament. The new spirit, as the statements of our Ontario conferees call it, is not, as a matter of fact, new. We have always affirmed that the French-Canadians were loyal to Canada and the Empire, and that they are amenable to the law. An irreconcilable hostility almost arose between the two races because our English fellow-citizens misunderstood the real sentiments of the province of Quebec. At the beginning of the war our province furnished a good number of volunteers, and generously contributed to all demands of the war. The French-Canadian ladies manifested an admirable zeal in the Red Cross, the Daughters of the Empire and the Aide la France. However, the sincere co-operation of our province remained misunderstood, for instead of appreciation the English provinces covered us with reproach, claiming that we had not done enough. The submission, however, with which the Province of Quebec accepted the amendments to the Military Law opened the eyes of our conferees of the other provinces and since then our compatriots have responded with alacrity to the appeal to arms and have made splendid soldiers.—La Patrie, Montreal.

"CHIPS AND TEA"

She was well past sixty. Her clothes were old and threadbare, and she managed to eke out an existence in London selling potato chips and tea from a little stand on the sidewalk. One evening a zeppelin bombarded the city, and the little stand was demolished. But the owner was undaunted. She worked most of the night, and when morning came, passersby read the following, painted in big red letters on the front of an improvised stand: "To hell with the Kaiser! Chips and tea."—Ex.

Insomnia Cured Without Drugs

Internal Bathing Relieves the Cause

If you do not sleep there is always some cause. Don't start dosing with drugs. Nerves can't consume them. Relieve the cause and a good, sound sleep will be the result.

The system cannot be right if the Colon or large intestine is not kept clean and free from all waste matter. Bathe internally if you want perfect health.

Mr. F. C. Voigt, Rapid City, Man., writes:—"For several years I suffered from indigestion, nervous debility, insomnia and constipation. Had no appetite, and doctors did not expect I would live throughout the winter. Your book interested me. I got a 'J. B. L. Cascade' and in a few days obtained remarkable results. I now sleep and enjoy my meals better than for years before. I regard the 'J. B. L. Cascade' as a Godsend to me."

The 'J. B. L. Cascade' is a perfected appliance for internal bathing, invented by Dr. Chas. A. Tyrrell of New York, and has been the means of restoring thousands to perfect health. It is shown and explained by Cyril H. Orme, Druggist, cor. 3rd Ave. and 6th St., who will be pleased to give you an interesting book called "The What, The Why, The Way of Internal Bathing" on request. Ask for it.
