ROLL OF HEROES WAS UNVEILED AT METHODIST CHURCH

Rev. George M. Raley of Sardis
Performed the Ceremony, Rev.
W. S. A. Cruikshank Conducting the Service.

An honor roll containing the names of those connected with the church who are serving the country in the war or who have served, was unveiled at the Methodist Church last night by Rev. George H. Raley of Sardis.

The names were inscribed on an artistic scroll which was decorated with the Union Jack and this will be hung in the church and other names added from time to time as occasion requires.

In performing the ceremony Mr. Raley gave a stirring patriotic address in which he referred to the self-sacrifice of those who went to fight for their country. The service was conducted by Rev. W. S. A. Cruikshank.

The names on the roll, which were read, were as follows: Robert Noble, Isaac Eardley, Jack Evans, Jas. D. Slater, Major J. C. Halsey, Hugh Killian, J. B. Clague, A. D. Harris, J. E. Unwin, Harold Shrub-sall, John Munro, H. Hinckley and Dr. L. Kergin.

NO TRACE FOUND OF MISSING SURVEYORS

After making the most careful search with many boats and men, the provincial police authorities at Ocean Falls have still been unable to discover any trace of the two surveyors who were drowned there recently. The two men, whose names were Laverock and Griffith, were surveying for the Government and were returning to their camp with supplies from Ocean Falls. They were in a row boat, fitted with a "kicker" as they call an Evinrude engine. Owing to the rough weather prevailing, it is surmised that their heavily-laden boat was capsized when they got into the open water. The boat was found upside down several miles away, and badly damaged from pounding on the rocks. The most careful search has been made, and every boat available has been impressed into the dragging operations for the recovery of the bodies of the two men, but so far without result.

A brood of young western winter wrens were seen yesterday on the townsite at Eleventh Ave. just east of McBride. They were able to fly but were still being fed by the parents. SHOT BEAR, FINED FOR
LACKING A LICENSE

Game Warden Emeett Welcomed
Arrival of Big Game Hunter
by Charging Him $50

A story comes from the Queen Charlotte Islands about the unexpected appearance of Constable Emmott, acting game warden, during his visit to Thurston Harbor.

Dr. Smith there went out hunting just before the constable's arrival, and during his trip got a bear. He came back on his launch with the bear slung high at the top of the derrick for all to see, and with the whistle making a great noise of jubilation. But on the boat's arrival at the wharf there was the game warden who promptly fined the doctor $50 for carrying a gun without a licence.

The occurrence so tickled the folks at Thurston Harbor that even the Presbyterian minister broke into verse over it. "Who shot the bear" has become quite a popular saying over there now, much to the disgust of the doctor.
